A WOMAN BADLY HURT

WHILE PICKING KINDLING IN THE BUILDING

Of the Working Girls' Home on Cross Street—Fell Into the Cellar Breaking Her Limbs.

Mary Sullivan, aged 65 years, who for the past few nights has been gathering chips and sawings from the proposed working girls' home now in process of construction on Cross street, met with a painful accident about 6 o'clock last evening. She fell through a hole in the floor to the cellar breaking both bones in one leg at the ankle joint. Her groans attracted passersby and the ambulance was summoned. She is at St. John's hospital. The poor woman was not stealing the wood as reported.

COUNTERFEITERS INDICTED.

Advertising Firm Arrested For Putting Imprint of Gold Coin Upon Cards.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 12.—The Federal grand jury has indicted President Hudson, Sec. Kimberley and Treas. McCure of the Hudson-Kimberley Printing Co., for distributing advertising cards with the imprint of $20 gold pieces upon them. The jury claims an offence under the counterfeiting law.

TWO ACCIDENTS

In the Middlesex and Boott Mills Today.

Louis Miller, an employe of the Middlesex mills was injured this morning by falling against a large screw. He was taken in the ambulance to St. John's hospital.

John McBride, employed in the Boott mills, stumbled over a roller this morning and sprained his ankle. He was taken to St. John's hospital.

A STRANGE DEATH

Young Man Expires in a Cell.

ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS ON MIDDLESEX STREET.

His Mother Denies That He Drank.

Capt. Moffatt and Officer Hickson arrested a young man about 20 years of age at midnight on Middlesex street and at the police station they claim he was too drunk to give his name. From cards in his pocket it was supposed that his name was John O'Connor.

He was locked up in a cell and left asleep, and no more was thought of him, for such cases are frequent in the police station.

But at 2 o'clock when the keeper was passing the cell, he was surprised to find the prisoner lying dead.

The body was removed to O'Donnell's undertaking warerooms where it awaits identification.

The unfortunate man was lame having an iron attachment on one foot. Officer Ryder, who saw the body, believes that the dead man is John O'Connor or Connors who lives at the corner of Lawrence and Richmond street.

The mother of the dead man who is a respectable woman employed at Stearn's laundry identified her son's body this morning at O'Donnell's. He is John O'Connor.

At the police station Mrs. O'Connor said that her dead son was a kind, affectionate and industrious boy and that she never knew him to drink a drop of liquor in his life and if he was drunk last night he must have started drinking yesterday. She is almost destracted by the sad occurence.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

Music Hall.

Nov. 16, 17, 18 Mr. F. Rush's "New White Crook," will be the attraction at Music Hall with its bevy of pretty girls, funny comedians, elegant wardrobes and magnificent effects. The uninterrupted and phenomenal success of the "White Crook" has caused the management this season to enlarge the attraction and to add many expensive novelties to the already famous spectacle. It is conceded that the scenery is the most beautiful ever painted. The company is unusually strong and it introduces the following vaudeville stars each selected for individual accomplishments: Ned Monroe and Fern Melrose, character sketch team in a new idea put together for laughing purposes only; Agnes Behler and Anna Yale, inimitable singing soubrettes in a budget of new songs; Dixon and Lang character comedians and vocalists who stand prominent and alone; Colby and DeWitt, comedy acrobats as the Dago and the Monk; William Edwards on the Mexican ladder, and Patterson and Lester, eccentric comedians. The performance to begin with the political farce, a debate on the present situation, entitled: "Columbia's Reception," introducing the entire company in witty repartee, and to conclude with the roaring burlesque "Near Gay New York," making it in all a new world's sensation.

DEATHS.

DREW—Jesse H. Drew, aged 60 years, 6 months, died yesterday at his home, 31 Arlington street. He was an old resident of Lowell, having lived here 30 years. He was born in Tuftonboro, N. H., in 1816, and also lived in Wolfboro, N. Y. One son, Chas. E. Drew, and two daughters, Mrs. Eliza A. Clough and Miss Belle Drew survive him.

MAYOR COURTNEY WEDDED

Brilliant Ceremony at St. Jean Baptiste Church.

Wedding is Attended by Several Thousand People—An Account of the Ceremony—Vast Array of Presents—The Reception.

How the merry wedding bells pealed last night! And how the eyes of a few thousand inhabitants of our city eagerly followed the charming and fascinating bride, Miss Alice Angelique Brouillette, and the handsome groom, our chief executive, His Honor, Mayor William Francis Courtney.

It is seldom a mayor is married while in office; in fact it is said to be the first marriage of this kind that has occurred in this city. Certain it is that it was an event for which the people of Lowell have been preparing for weeks past. There have been marriages where wealth and fashion have combined; where society queens have displayed their fineries and gallant young men attended amiable young ladies. The aristocracy with great eclat have heard the words pronounced that made two of their number one; but never has there been such a representative gathering—of wealth, aristocracy, society and the plain, honest citizens as assisted at last evening's ceremonial.

A happy bride and a groom they were and filled with joy who were made one for life.

The preparations for the grand event were in progress for a few months past. Yesterday was not the "day of sunshine" of which the little proverb tells; it was a dark, dismal, cloudy day. And it was a stormy day, too. In the morning there was that unpleasant drizzling rain which gave forebodings of clearing skies before noon, to allow a beautiful sun to shine and then form a glorious setting just as the ceremony was being performed.

After noon all hope was dispelled and towards evening the rain came down in torrents. Then it cleared at six o'clock, just as the bridal party entered the church. Every carriage in Lowell had been engaged for the wedding and many were obliged to make double trips. Private carriages, too, were pressed into service. During the day a large canopy had been erected from the sidewalk to the entrance to St. Jean Baptiste church, to protect the bridal party and the guests from the inclement weather. It was announced that the church doors would be opened at five o'clock though the hour for the ceremony was six o'clock. Long before five o'clock the people commenced to gather at the entrance.

Chief Usher Charles L. Marren and the ushers had assembled at St. Jean Baptiste parochial residence at 4.30 o'clock.

There were twenty ushers in all. They were Charles L. Marren, chief usher; John W. McEvoy, Esq., William A. Hogan, Esq., James J. Kerwin, Esq., J. Joseph Hennessey, Esq., Harvey N. Collison, Esq., of Boston, George Greene, Joseph F. Donohoe, Bernard J. Callahan, Hon. Peter J. Brady, Jaremiah Tompkins, John F. O'Brien, Frederick Flannery, George E. Caisse, Edward S. Houle, Edward Chalifoux, Henri Wilbrenner, Dorris Brouillette, Edward Marden and Herminides Gervais. The young men were in evening dress and each wore a large white chrysanthemum. Shortly before five o'clock they filed into the vestry, and then into the church. The doors were opened and the first guests to arrive were admitted.

Down in front, seats had been reserved for the families of the contracting parties and the city government.

Four police officers kept an open space in the street in front of the church. They were Officers Hugh Maguire, Daniel W. Cogger, Thomas Coleman and Henry Quinn. Inside, the entrances were guarded by Officers Breault, Provencher, Frank Fox and Peter Corcoran. The detachment was in charge of Lieut. Kew and Sergt. Palmer.

At 5.30 the galleries and a considerable portion of the body of the church were filled. On the outside, the crowd of spectators was quite large.

Merrimack street in that vicinity was crowded with carriages of all descriptions, and every electric car that came along added its quota of guests to the great assemblage.

At 6 o'clock the great edifice was crowded and many ladies were obliged to stand in the alcoves on either side.

The scene was one of great splendor and brilliancy. Such an assemblage, such an occasion Lowell has seldom if ever seen. Two thousand people at least rose to greet the bridal party as it entered.

Men were attired in full evening dress; ladies wore the rich and most dazzling gowns.

In the galleries spectators hung over the balcony half a dozen deep, straining every muscle to catch a glimpse of the fair bride.

Over in the vestry door, in full view of those on that side of the church, stood the groom, Mayor Courtney, and his brother, Henry S. Courtney, Esq.

The mayor's face was wreathed in smiles—he looked the happiest of men. And as he glanced at the assembled guests, he recognized his friends, bowed continually and smiled in return to their pleasant bows.

At 6 o'clock, precisely, there was a flutter in the church—the bridesmaids had arrived. Then eighty little girls, dressed in white, wearing crowns and white veils, marched from the vestry and formed two rows in the centre aisle.

Ten more little ones with white dresses and golden tipped wings were arrayed on the sanctuary steps. They represented little angels, and their names were: Antoinette Vigeant, Annette Vigeant, Antoinette Alexander, Carrinne Alexander, Marie Germain, Dianna Godin, Exilda Belanger, Anna Parent, Bernadette Brouillette, Mary Louise Charon. Each child carried a bouquet.

The church was brilliant with the glow of several hundred incandescent lights and heavy with the perfume of sweet scented flowers. The floral decorations were very simple and effective. In every window and niche were placed potted plants. Ferns and rare exotics were solidly banked in the cozy alcoves, while the sanctuary was a boudoir of rich foliage, potted plants and cut flowers.

The glow of 200 lighted candles and tapers in colored globes shed a soft radiance over the beautiful altar.

From the chandeliers hung suspended strings of evergreen, clustered in the centre with a magnificent ball of beautiful chrysanthemums directly over the prie-dieu at which the bride and bridegroom knelt.

The prie-dieu was decorated in white. Shortly after six o'clock the bride with her father arrived at the church. Mayor Courtney and his brother, Henry S. Courtney, Esq., who was best man, were waiting in the vestry for the arrival of the bride.

When the bride and bridesmaids passed through the main entrance, they were met by the ushers. The organ and orchestra played the soft, low strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, and the party walked down the centre aisle in the following order: ushers, six bridesmaids, the maid of honor, Alice Brouillette Marden of Portsmouth, N. H., who strewed flowers in front of the bride on the way to the altar, and last came the bride leaning on the right arm of her father, Mr. Joseph Brouillette.

At the chancel rail they were met by the groom and his best man, who had advanced from the vestry.

Here there was a slight delay—the bride's right arm had become caught in her veil as she was about to extend her right hand to the man who was soon to be made her helpmate for life. It was only for an instant, but as she stood there the blush came to her cheeks and the guests or those who could see her gazed upon the pretty face then wearing a happy smile. Then unassisted, she freed her arm, the moment of embarassment had passed and hand in hand the couple passed within the chancel rail and knelt at the prie-dieu. Next to the Mayor knelt his brother, while the maid of honor was kneeling beside the bride.

The bridesmaids were Misses Susie Courtney, Helen Pinault, Romula Bigonesse, Rose Caisse, Elizabeth Garra and Hattie Marion of Holyoke. They ranged themselves three on each side, in front of the sanctuary, and the ushers filed into the chancel, ten on each side. During the ceremony the ushers and bridesmaids remained standing. Rev. Fr. Guillard, O. M. I., provincial of the Oblate Fathers, was the officiating clergyman.

Rev. Fr. Amyot, O.M.I., and Rev. Fr. Joyce, O.M.I., were the assistant priests and Rev. Fr. Forget, master of ceremonies. Rev. Fr. Guillard before performing the ceremony delivered a brief sermon on the text "What God has joined, let no man put asunder." Then followed the marriage ceremony of the Catholic church.

The following clergymen, besides those who officiated, were present at the service: Rev. Frs. Despatis, Fournier, Marion, Petit, Gagnon and Paquette, all of the Oblate order; together with Rev. Frs. Wm. O'Brien, Gleason and Burke.

The musical portion of the service was excellent. Three choirs combined gave a chorus of about 75 voices. The chorus was made up of the singers in Choeur Rossini, St. Jean Baptiste Church choir, and St. Joseph's church choir. Edmund Pinault wielded the baton and Miss Alma Alexander was the organist. Just before the marriage ceremony commenced, the choir sang the Veni Creator, and when the couple had been pronounced man and wife, the beautiful "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," from Farmer's mass, was sung in joyous chorus. The march from the church was led by the mayor and his young wife, followed by the best man, the bridesmaids and the ushers. They passed between the two lines formed by eighty little girls dressed in white, each holding a large bouquet of chrysanthemums.

As the party left the church, the loud strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were heard pealing forth from the organ and orchestra.

It took some time for the guests to prepare for departure, and it was half an hour after the bridal party left that the last of the guests got started. When Mayor and Mrs. Courtney left the church, there were fully 3,000 people in the street. From Austin street, away up Merrimack street, it was a perfect crush, passageway being left only for the carriages and cars. Not over fifty of that great crowd saw the couple, for their view was destroyed by the great canopy that extended clear to the street.

The Bride's Dress.

The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of white moire antique silk, trimmed with duchess lace. She wore a long bridal veil of Brussell's net, caught with a diamond star and crescent, the gift of the groom. She carried a large bouquet of chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids' dresses displayed a very pretty and effective combination of colors—pink, blue and yellow. Miss Courtney and Miss Pinault wore pink taffeta silk covered with white muslin and trimmed with lace Valenciennes.

Miss Garra and Miss Caisse had on gowns of blue Taffeta silk under white muslin and trimmed with lace Valenciennes; and Miss Bigonesse and Miss Mari on were dressed in yellow taffeta silk under white muslin and trimmed with lace Valenciennes.

Little Alice Brouillette Marden, the maid of honor, was gowned in a pretty little dress of white taffeta silk.

Mayor Courtney and his best man were of course attired in evening dress and each wore a large white chrysanthemum.

The Reception.

The reception at the home of the bride's parents started at 7.15 when the couple arrived from the church. Middlesex street was crowded with carriages and at 7.30 every room in the house was filled with people. As the guests arrived they were received by the bride and groom. The presents or at least many of them were exhibited in two rooms down stairs and officer Maher was stationed there. Shortly after 8 o'clock the spacious grounds in front of the house were pretty well filled with people who were obliged to wait till those inside had made their exit before they could enter the house. The rooms were decorated with smilax, laurel, asparagus, and potted plants. The Page company served lunch. At 9 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Courtney left the house for the depot. Arriving at the depot they found six hundred of their friends waiting to bid them adieu. As the train pulled out, they cheered and burned red fire and the mayor standing on the platform of the car waved an au revoir.

They will visit New York, Philadelphia and Washington on their wedding trip and on their return will reside at 69 Third street. They will be "at home," Wednesdays in January.

The list of presents will be found on the second page.

POLITICAL NOTES.

☞ ANY MAN pretending to be a democrat who, in public print or otherwise, opposes the election of a regular democratic nominee, or who repeatedly votes in the city council for republican candidates as against competent and worthy democrats, is a POLITICAL TRAITOR of the kind known in politics as A CUCKOO. No such man has any claim upon the democratic party for a nomination or election to any office.

What inducement is there for a young man entering the democratic party to keep straight, if he sees the biggest traitors receiving the greatest honors at the hands of the party? He soon makes up his mind that he must do one of two things to receive recognition. He must either betray his party and truckle for the favor of opposition, or go into the republican party where they reward only the faithful and punish the cuckoos. Have the local democrats learned this lesson yet? Will they nominate renegades and cuckoos, or will they nominate straight democrats as a reward for faithful service and as an example to those who look for preferment.

The coming caucuses of the democratic party to elect delegates to the municipal convention will be the most interesting and for that part the most important held for years. The voters should turn out in large numbers on that occasion, November 19, because it is at the caucuses that the present contest will be settled. There every voter can take a part in settling the question as to whether a cuckoo or a loyal democrat shall represent the party. The republicans are divided upon several candidates and for that reason the democrats should unite, not on a man whose chief aim has been to attack men in his own party, to pull down and ridicule the members of his own party while beslobbering members of the republican party, not on a man who is a master of the gentle art of making enemies, not on one who like a bull in a china shop is gifted with a faculty of in common parlance "putting his foot in it" for it is very plain that no such candidate can be elected under present conditions.

The drunkard reforms, the thief reforms, but the political cuckoo never reforms. Once a cuckoo, always a cuckoo. Does the democratic party in Lowell propose to trust a cuckoo with a nomination that honest, worthy and reliable democrats are willing to accept? We think not.

The principal claim of the cuckoo who asks for a democratic nomination is, that he can get republican votes. Of course he can, and everybody knows why. But how about the democratic votes? Can he get them? Not this year. If the democrats want to win this year they must put none but democrats on their ticket.

The democrats of Lowell don't deserve to win if they have not the courage to reward the faithful and punish the traitors in their party. When a cuckoo asks for a nomination, no matter who he is, turn him down. He is more dangerous to the party in office or out of office than an open republican enemy.

How can the democratic leaders preach party fealty to the rank and file if they reward party treachery with party honors? How can delegates to a convention vote crooked and then expect the voters at the polls to vote straight? How can party leaders vote for political crooks and then urge the voters to vote for none but democrats? Put none but straight democrats in nomination before you ask the democratic voters to vote straight. Set the straight example in convention and it will be followed at the polls.

One democratic cuckoo is more dangerous to the democratic party than a thousand republicans. This has been proven. Do the democrats of Lowell want any more of it?

POLITICAL ARENA

Will Be Entered By Knights of Labor.

MONEY KINGS AND MINIONS DENOUNCED.

The Producers to Control the Organization.

Rochester, Nov. 12.—At the adjournment of the session of the Knights of Labor yesterday, the following conclusion of the executive board was given out:

In our annual report to the Washington general assembly, we used this language: In spite of the good legislation already secured; in spite of improvements already made in the social and industrial conditions, there yet remains a vast work to be done before the wealth producers will be fully free from the chains of wage slavery and the oppression of monopoly.

The forces of a great army like the Knights of Labor to accomplish the most important results must have its power wisely directed against the weakest point in the enemy's line, and the very stronghold and citadel of monopoly must be captured. No organization in the world has so clear, definite and practical a plan of campaign as our order. The machinery of our government must be wrested from the hands of the agents of the plutocrats and restored to the people. The money of the people, the life-blood of commerce, must be issued by the agents of the people only. The great highways of commerce must be freed from the clutches of railway kings, and the land, the great reservoir from which all wealth is drawn, which is the prime necessity for the maintenance of human existence, must be restored to the whole people. The equal rights of each one of the children of men to a share of the bounties of nature must be recognized and secured. The opportunity to live in peace, and secure the opportunity to labor and enjoy the full fruits of their toil, must be guaranteed beyond a possibility of doubt. These are the great issues, clear and distinct, which the Knights of Labor propose to fight out to a finish, and the wealth producers of the world are welcomed to their ranks.

At last the time has come when the lines of battle are fairly drawn between the laborers of America on the one hand, and their implacable enemies—the money kings and their minions—on the other. Although a complete victory for the people was not won in the recent election, yet immense gains have been made. Six millions of American voters have arrayed themselves permanently under the banner of principles, so long upheld by the Knights of Labor. At least 2,000,000 more would have done likewise, but for the frightened forces of money and coercion, used in this campaign by the party of the plutocracy.

This general assembly should give the most thorough consideration to the question of how best to preserve political advantages already gained for the masses, and how we may perfect the organization for victory in the immediate future. The millions of wealth-producers are now aroused as they never were aroused before in the history of the nation. Let us seek, with all the wisdom we can muster at this general assembly, to decide on such a policy as will show the people how to so use their political power that they will become irresistible in their demand for the reforms which labor requires.

The lack of organization among the toilers is a grave menace to the republic. Not 5 per cent of the working people of the United States are organized. It is imperative that something must be done to organize them more rapidly than they have ever been organized in the past. What shall it be?

We would suggest, first, that we must make it clear to the laboring people that it is to their interest in every sense of the word to become good members of the Knights of Labor.

We must make it clear to the employers that it will not be injurious to their best interests if their employes are permitted and encouraged to join our order. We must make it clear, beyond question, that every man and woman, who is a member of our order, will be safer and better protected in their rights than those who are not members. We must make the employer understand that if he employs Knights of Labor he will not be placed at any disadvantage with his competitor, who employs no Knights of Labor, or is not at open warfare with the order.

Hasty and ill-advised strikes should be avoided as much as possible. Every strike and lockout is incipient civil war. One is an attack of the employer and the employe, and the other is an attack of the employe and the employer. Those attacks and counter attacks often develop into civil war, and as one blow brings on another, we can never foretell what the final outcome of some of these struggles may be. The plutocracy is seeking an excuse to readily increase the standing army. The petty violence connected with strikes and lockouts is their most plausible excuse now. Let us not play into their hands. We should teach the laboring people to cease to be rebellious slaves and to realize their real positions, that of the head masters and rulers of the republic, clothed with ample power to reconstruct all social and industrial conditions on whatever lines they desire; to this end, let the good work of unifying the political power of the masses, now so well begun, be carried on with renewed vigor, and when another four years have passed, every branch of the government of the United States, local, municipal, state and national, will be in the hands of the wealth producers, to use as they see fit. We shall then no longer be as we now are, largely at the mercy of the money kings in the great corporations.

Watson's Little "If."

Atlanta, Nov. 12.—The letter of acceptance, written by Tom Watson, accepting the Populist nomination for vice president, was yesterday made public. Seven columns of Watson's People's party paper are devoted to it. The letter is supplemented by four columns of advice to Populists, to "Sit steady in the boat and hold their party together." The editorial tone of the paper is one of fulfilled prophecy. Watson declares that the failure of the Populists to support Bryan in the close states brought about McKinley's election. He goes into a long review of circumstances leading to his nomination at St. Louis, and accepts the vice presidential nomination "because I said I would." He declares that if the St. Louis Populist convention had nominated a straight Populist ticket, it would have been elected. It would, he said, have driven the Hills and Gormans where they belonged. In the Republican ranks—and the Bryans and Blands would have joined with the Populists. He complains bitterly of the treatment he has received at the hands of the Populist leaders, and addresses himself, particularly to Senator Butler, in a vigorous manner.

Who Wants to Subscribe?

Louisville, Nov. 12.—Secretary Richardson of the Democratic state campaign committee, yesterday gave out the following statement: "The Republicans of Kentucky claim the state for the Republican electors by about 500 votes, on the face of the returns. This result has been accomplished by the perpetration of one of the most gigantic frauds in the history of politics. If a proper contest could be made by the committee, the state could be secured to Bryan and Democracy. To make this contest it is necessary that this committee raise a fund to be expended in the employment of counsel, the taking of proof and the general expenses of the contest. This committee is now without funds. In fact the campaign in this state was made practically without money, and the only means at its command for raising said funds is by popular subscription. In view of these facts, this committee now appeals to all Democrats interested in saving the state to Bryan and Democracy, to send at once such amounts as they feel able to subscribe."

How Sherman Would Have It.

New York, Nov. 12.—The Republicans of Brooklyn had a meeting at the Union League club last night to ratify the election of McKinley and Hobart. The principal speaker of the evening was Senator John Sherman of Ohio. He advocated conservatism on the part of the administration that is to be. The advice in his speech may be epitomized thus: Pass the Dingley bill, improved, if possible, so that the McKinley administration may come into power with sufficient money to meet expenses. No extra session of congress. Appointment of a tariff commission; calmness and deliberate consideration of the whole question. Take care of the farmer from the point of view of protection. No coinage of silver dollars until we can put into the silver dollar enough silver to make it equal in value to the gold dollar. Welcome all conservative men to the Republican party. Senator Sherman referred also to the work of the past administration in extremely unfavorable terms.

Democrats Hold Everything.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 12.—The Alabama legislature organized yesterday, with D. Sayre as president of the senate, and N. N. Clements speaker of the house. The Democrats in the house numbered 75 and the Populists 24. In the senate there are 24 Democrats and nine Populists. Balloting for United States senator will begin in open session on Nov. 24. The Populists have not yet decided whether they will nominate a candidate.

Wants Pugh's Place.

Vanceburg, Ky., Nov. 12.—Colonel W. L. Thomas, Silver Democratic candidate for congress, in the Ninth district, at the late election, has informed the silver chairman here that he will contest the seat of Samuel J. Pugh, on the grounds of irregularities in the voting, which, he says, existed in every county in the district.

In Blackburn's Behalf.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 12.—Notices of contest have been filed in the case of all the Republicans elected to fill vacancies in the legislature. This is understood to have been done in the interest of Senator Blackburn.

Still at Odds With Italy.

Rome, Nov. 12.—A letter was recently received by the pope from King Menelik of Abyssinia. It was brought by Mgr. Macaire. King Menelik protests his devotion to the pope, and maintains that, since the Italian government continues in its attitude of hostility toward Abyssinia, he is unable to sacrifice the sole guarantee of peace that he holds by restoring to liberty the Italian prisoners he has taken and now holds. Menelik also expresses hope that the pope will intervene in the interests of peace, and thus accelerate the liberation of the prisoners.

A Gruesome Find.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 12.—The dismembered body of an unknown young woman was found in a shallow grave yesterday, between the city and the asylum for the insane. Two employes at the asylum claim to have seen two men going into the field Tuesday night, dismount, and after opening the grave, ride away, leaving it uncovered. The body has the appearance of having been buried several weeks. The police are mystified by the find, and have no clew on which to work.

On Trial For Manslaughter.

Taunton, Mass., Nov. 12.—William Butler of New Bedford was brought before the superior criminal court yesterday on a charge of manslaughter, in shooting an Italian, who was robbing his fruit orchard, July 24. Medical Examiner Hough testified that death was caused by gunshots in the lungs, liver, intestines and kidneys, 51 shots being found in the body. Butler claims that he did the shooting in self-defense.

John Inman's Will.

New York, Nov. 12.—John H. Inman, who died recently, in his will, filed yesterday, bequeaths to his wife his house at 874 Fifth avenue, an annuity of $25,000, all his furniture, plate and pictures, and his pew in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church. The total value of the bequest is $450,000. The rest of the estate is to be divided in equal shares among his children.

Judge Was Lenient.

Providence, Nov. 12.—Edward Rushford, the embezzler, who was arrested in Omaha last winter by Detective Parker, pleaded nolo contendre yesterday, and Judge Wilbur, after listening to a plea for mercy, on account of the embezzlement being his first offense, ordered Rushford to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

"UP TO DATE."

New Tailoring Firm.

During the past year there has been a number of business changes many of the firms retiring and new ones coming in their stead. In the tailoring business as important change has taken place within a week. Charles W. Mayotte is succeeded by the new firm of Dion & Scagel, Messrs. Dion & Scagel have bought out his stock and fixtures which were considered the finest in Lowell and in addition to this they have added a complete line of carefully selected new goods in all the latest patterns which they are ready to make up in stylish garments for both men and women. Mr. Dion is a thoroughly practical cutter having had fourteen years experience in tailoring. He has just completed a course with the Herald of Fashion Co., New York, where he has been studying up latest styles. The new firm is now prepared to execute orders in the very best manner possible at reasonable prices at their "up to date" establishment, room 34, Hildreth building.

Niblock's Aim to Please.

It must be a source of great pleasure to the many patrons of Niblock's millinery and department store to know that there is an establishment in this city where even the most fastidious may be suited in the millinery line and it must also be gratifying to the friends of the firm to know that their artistic establishment has entirely extinguished the long existing but erroneous idea that to procure anything grand in the millinery line we must go to Boston, for there is no store in Boston that can equal it in general excellence, in appointments, stock or in prices. Rich and poor, stylish and plain, all are to be quickly satisfied at Niblocks.

This statement applies also to their other departments. Their laces, ribbons, gloves, hosiery, corsets and all other lines excel, and their prices are always within reach of all.

Satisfaction is guaranteed to every customer, and it will pay you to read their large display advertisement in today's paper if you desire to save money. Visit Niblock's new store at 133-137 Merrimack street.

OFFICES.

In the Glidden Building, Middlesex street and Post Office Avenue, are rented exclusively for business purposes. No lodgers. Building has excellent sanitary arrangements, steam and water in every room, lighted by electricity and gas. Fast running elevator. Also a telegraph office, expert stenographers and typewriters. Only a few suites of offices remain unengaged, special inducement to immediate applicants. AMOS F. HILL, agent at The Traders' National Bank.

ANY MAN pretending to be a democrat who, in public print or otherwise, opposes the election of a regular democratic nominee, or who repeatedly votes in the city council for republican candidates as against competent and worthy democrats, is a POLITICAL TRAITOR of the kind known in politics as A CUCKOO. No such man has any claim upon the democratic party for a nomination or election to any office.

Do you notice how many cuckoos rush to the aid of a cuckoo who comes out as a full fledged candidate for office? Birds of a feather flock together.

Tom Watson is out with his letter of acceptance. We have no doubt that Sewall is now willing to make way for him. The letter is so long that few, except "sons of rest" will have time to read it.

Isaac D. Allen, colored, is beyond question elected a member of the governor's council to succeed Hon. John H. Sullivan, a democrat. Mr. Sullivan's recreancy to party was probably the chief cause of his defeat.

The democrats of Lowell have an important duty to perform on Nov. 19 and that is to elect delegates to a municipal convention. Only a true democrat who stands by his party should be considered as a candidate for the position.

THE M. M. A. PICTURES.

Now that the Middlesex Mechanics society is insolvent, its property will probably be sold under the hammer. Even the most resolute opponent of purchasing the pictures did not wish the society to be wound up in this manner although such a termination was not unexpected.

If the effects of the association be sold at auction there will then be an opportunity to ascertain the market value of the paintings. The city council has decided not to purchase the paintings and it is not likely to change from that decision but it is not probable that these alleged works of art will be snatched away at high prices to adorn the walls of any studio or art museum. The parties that valued them so highly will probably get a bargain in them and should be around when the sale takes place. It is to be hoped for the sake of the society that they will sell for a good price, but there is still a possibility that they will come into possession of the city. It is believed by lawyers that the city will have to get permission from the legislature before it can legally expend the funds of the city for any such purpose.

IN A NOBLE CAUSE.

T. R. Dawley, Jr., the war correspondent who spent five months in Cuba, and personally investigated the many atrocities committed by the Spaniards under Weyler, has organized the Cuban Relief Corps, with headquarters at No. 23 Park Row, New York. Mr. Grover Flint, who was also in the Cuban war, marched with Gomez and came home with the rank of major, acts as treasurer for the association, giving bond to the extent of $25,000 as a guarantee that all funds collected shall be used as represented.

In an appeal to Americans, sent out by the organization there is a strong hint that the relief for Cuba is bullets instead of bandages. A circular with a picture representing the murder of the American, Charles Govin, by Spanish officers, shows what the Spaniards are doing in Cuba. It is only one example of the thousands of murders committed by the Spaniards since the arrival of the Captain-General, which Mr. Dawley stigmatises as "the stupid ex-violator of women—Weyler."

Contributions are solicited for the relief of the Cubans, and to those whose sympathies are suspected of being with Cuba, an envelope is mailed with a slip bearing the cut of a cartridge, such as are used in the Spanish Mauser gun, a machete and a complete Mauser. The card reads:

"Five cents will buy one of these (cartridges) in Cuba. How many do you want? Three dollars will buy one of these American made machetes in Cuba, and $15 will buy a Spanish mauser. These are the implements which the Spanish use to cure the suffering Cubans. Take your choice and send the amount to T. R. Dawley, Jr., manager Cuban Relief Corps, 23 Park Row, New York City, room 53."

A note further explains:

"What is needed in Cuba is money to provide the men with arms and ammunition, but Cleveland has proclaimed the illegality of fitting out expeditions here in aid of the Cuban cause. The Cuban Junta finds itself hampered in sending relief to their struggling brethren. Our countrymen are being shot down, cut to pieces and imprisoned; can't we do something to stop this state of affairs? If it is illegal to ship arms and ammunition to Cuba, it is not illegal for Americans to contribute liberally to the relief of the sick and wounded, homeless and imprisoned Cubans. We solicit your contribution, no matter how small the amount."

It is time the United States government should recognize the Cuban belligerents. Cleveland may leave the glory to his successor, but now that the Venezuelan question is settled and the Gen. Lee can give the facts, there is no excuse for postponing this act of justice.

WOMAN'S SPHERE

Progress Made In All Parts of the World.

EARNEST WORK OF FRANCES E. WILLARD.

Annual Convention of the Woman's Christian Union.

St. Louis, Nov. 12.—Miss Frances E. Willard has arrived here, to preside over the approaching sessions of the second annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance union. Aided by Louise C. Purington, M. D., of Dorchester, Mass., she has prepared a survey of the progress of woman in all parts of the world, chiefly in 1896, but partly during protracted periods, in different religious denominations and in various religious societies. The compilation of facts includes religious and philanthropic; educational, political, medical, legal, literary and artistic circles. It shows that the women in the Methodist Episcopal church have, in the past four years, collected for foreign missions, $1,153,797; for home missions, $786,-765. They have 51 deaconess' homes, 15 of which are in foreign lands. These deaconesses work without salary, and have held 1000 meetings, and have cared for 6000 sick people. Mrs. Maggie N. Van Cott is the most noted evangelist in the Methodist denomination today. For 30 years she has been preaching the gospel, and it is estimated that more than 70,000 people have been converted through her. There are 42 women—31 regularly ordained—Congregational ministers and pastors in the United States. The Methodist church voted at its last general conference to admit women delegates, and the question is virtually settled. There are 300 women preachers among the Society of Friends.

No woman has rendered more distinguished service the past year than Clara Barton, who, at 70 years of age, dared an unfriendly climate, and ventured to an unhospitable capital. Dr. Grace Kimball, Van, Turkey, has done an eminent work in the industrial bureau for the relief of the Armenians. The approximate number helped at the central bureau is 15,230. The heroism of Miss Shattuck, missionary at Oorfa, alone and defenseless, is unsurpassed in missionary annals, 240 people and 17 houses being "covered by the shadow" of that brave woman during the fearful massacre at Oorfa. Mrs. Anson P. Stokes has done a blessed work for the Italians of New York city.

In India, native women are making donations to the hospitals, libraries and other public enterprises.

A young woman endeavorer in Santiago, Chili, last year raised more than $1000, by her own efforts, for missionary and benevolent purposes. Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey, president of the Maine Woman Suffrage association, has made a gift of $5000 to the Temperance Temple in Chicago.

Mrs. Lillian Hollister of Detroit is the supreme commander of the Ladies of the Maccabes, a woman's organization exclusively, numbering 52,455. It is a fraternal beneficiary society, said to be the first society of women in the world to organize upon the basis of co-operative effort.

During the 20 years that Mrs. C. H. Spurgeon has had charge of the book fund and the pastor's aid fund, she has disbursed nearly £30,000. About 200,000 volumes of books have been given away.

There are now about 600 women students in Michigan university. Rockville (Ills.) college enjoys the distinction of being the first among the western women's colleges to give a Greek play, and the first in the United States, with the exception of Vassar, to give a play in the original tongue. Mrs. Ida J. Hyde of Chicago has taken the degree of Ph. D., magna cum laude, at the University of Heidelberg. Miss Alice Luce, who has recently received the degree of Ph. D., magna cum laude, from the University of Heidelberg, is a Maine girl.

Out of 451 colleges and universities in the United States, only 41 are closed to women. All the others are now co-educational; and, besides, women have 143 schools of the higher education, with 30,-000 students. Of 400,000 teachers in the United Sstates, 48 per cent are women; in England the proportion is even greater. Russian girls are thirsty for knowledge.

Twenty-five states have given the educational ballot to women; one, Kansas, the municipal; and Wyoming, Colorado and Utah have made them full citizens.

Dr. Mary E. Green, with the help of other Michigan women, has secured a law requiring the teaching in all schools of the "modes by which dangerous communicable diseases are spread, and the best methods for the prevention of such diseases."

The unfavorable action last November of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, on a petition from the London School of Medicine for Women, praying for the admission of medical women to its examinations, has been reversed at a meeting of the fellows.

The Queen of Portugal has recently passed the medical students' second year's examination in Lisbon. Miss Aldrich-Blake is the first woman to take the degree of master of surgery of the University of London. The first Indian woman to be graduated as a trained nurse is Miss Nancy Cornelius, of the Oneida tribe of Wisconsin. There are 37,910 women engaged in medical work, nursing, etc., in England.

A law recently enacted in New York provides that 60 hours a week shall be the maximum of work for women and children; that chairs shall be provided for women clerks, and that all places where women and children are employed shall be subject to sanitary inspection.

At the last meeting of the convocation of the Law society of Upper Canada, held in Toronto, the legal committee was directed to frame rules providing for the calling of women to the bar.

Colonel T. W. Higginson has presented the Boston public library with a collection of 1000 volumes relating to the history of women.

Women are engaging more and more in business. There are insurance agents, jewelers, journalists, newspaper agents, registers of deeds, deputy registers, real estate brokers, musical conductors, keepers of bees, market gardeners, commission agents, bank cashiers, window dressers, paper doll designers, sign painters, shinglemakers (Mrs. Stimson will saw 8,000,000 this year at her mill, Houlton, Me.), steel workers, clock and watch makers, dairy farmers (Mrs. Carrie Nelson of Ryegate owns and runs the best dairy farm in Vermont), ranch owners, etc. There are artists in cookery, millinery, dressmaking, bicycle costuming, photographers, engravers, painters. There are in England about 9000 women in the civil service, 700 journalists, 130 reporters, 347 women blacksmiths, 12,000 bookbinders and printers, 9138 nailworkers; also many thousands in almost every department of work.

Mrs. Willis of Tacoma has gone to establish a bakery within the Arctic circle, at Circle City, on the Yukon river. She is the first white woman to journey through the wildest and most dangerous part of Alaska.

A school for servants is to be started in Orange, N. J., where women will be trained to do housework.

In Decatur, Mich., with a population of 1500, the town officers are women. The leading physician is a woman; also one of the popular pastors; the postmistress; the proprietor of the largest dry goods store, and one of the best shoemakers. There are women painters, harnessmakers, and brokers. There are no saloons.

Mme. Korany, Beirut, Syria, has formed a woman's club, the first ever organized in that part of the world.

There are about 20 women lighthouse-keepers in the United States.

Ex-Bishop Taylor of Africa says that heathen women are quicker to learn trades and industries than men. "They should be given a chance," he says, "to do what they like."

Mrs. Mary E. Cutter of Holliston, Mass., from a successful experience of 11 years in raising fruits and vegetables for market, draws the conclusion that gardening may be made both pleasant and profitable.

In Arapahoe county, Colo., Miss Georgie S. Richards received, as clerk of the district court, $5000 a year. In Denver, Miss Pickerill, the new garbage contractor, is giving a clean sweep, doing the work for $280 a month. It cost $10,000 last year. Mrs. Florence D. Morse is the first woman to receive the appointment of health inspector.

The home secretary of England has appointed Miss Abraham on the special committee to deal with trades that have been scheduled as dangerous, with a view to securing scientific information. Within a year five societies have been organized in Holland for the promotion of woman's interests. In Finland, women are railroad contractors and ticket agents. A woman in New York city is ringing the chimes. The Brooklyn Health Culture club, 160 members, agree that long, heavy, mud and microbe skirts must go. They covenanted to appear in common-sense costume the first rainy day in October. This is true of other clubs.

Since last year's report, 190 patents have been granted to women.

Not Wanted In This Country.

Albany, Nov. 12.—As an outcome of prolonged correspondence with the Italian authorities, the state commission in lunacy has succeeded in deporting three alien lunatics to their home in Italy. These aliens belonged to the very lowest strata of society, and had recently landed in this country. Each had been convicted of crimes of a more or less serious nature, and had been committed to a state prison, or penitentiary, where, their insanity becoming manifest, they were committed to the Matteawan asylum for criminal lunatics.

Murderous Indian at Large.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—Several days ago an Indian named Charcoal, on the Blood reserve, near Fort McLeod, killed another Indian, his squaw and the farm instructor. Charcoal escaped from the reserve, and a detachment of mounted police have been in pursuit of him. They have several times been held at bay by the desperate. Two policemen have been wounded, and yesterday Sergeant Wilde, while attempting his capture, was shot dead. The orders now are to shoot the redskin on sight.

Boom In Iron Trade.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The Industrial World says: Iron has experienced the impulses of a new and more active life. Pig iron has again advanced from 25 to 50 cents per ton, according to delivery. Orders during the past week have been the largest in many months. The plate mills at South Chicago have reopened, and for all kinds of finished mill products there is much better inquiry. But the mills have been famished for orders, and there is no improvement in prices.

Escape Was Easy.

New Haven, Nov. 12.—John Castagnetti, one of the state convicts who, with two others, escaped from the insane asylum at Middletown last week, was captured at the house of a friend in North Haven yesterday. He was brought to this city, and will be removed to the asylum at once. In talking of his escape, Castagnetti says that the asylum door was open, and he simply walked out. The other two are still at large.

This trifling gift accept, from me.
Its use I recommend;
In sunshine use the brushy part,
In storms, the other end.

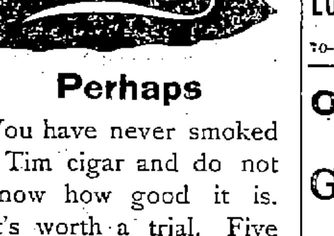

FROM A FRIEND.

Your local doctor may be a good old man, but you shudder when he suggests local treatment for the weakness and diseases peculiar to women. These things are generally unnecessary, but the doctor doesn't know it. He is perfectly honest, but he is behind the times. He does the best he can, no doubt, but his best is not good enough. He is not a specialist. He is a general practitioner, worried and bothered and hurried in giving attention to a thousand and one different ailments. Many busy physicians do not take the time to find out what is really the matter with their patients. Many a woman has been continuously treated for a disease she did not have, because frequently the symptoms of diseases peculiarly feminine appear to be the same as those of other disorders.

Every invalid woman may have the services of a regularly graduated, experienced and skilled specialist in the treatment of diseases of women if she will write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Over thirty years ago Dr. Pierce invented his "Favorite Prescription," for the treatment of the diseases of women. It has had a record of thirty years of success, and to-day more of it is sold by druggists than all other medicines for women combined. Its effect is immediately perceptible. It is quick to stop the dragging, bearing-down feeling and other torturing pains. It soothes inflammation, promotes regularity, and stops debilitating drains on the system.

The physiology of women, in health and disease, related in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A copy free for 21 one-cent stamps to pay postage only. Cloth-bound 31 cents.

ALLEN ELECTED

The Recount Confirms His Claims as Councillor.

McKINLEY IS PROMISED A SECOND TERM.

Resolutions for International Bimetallism Passed.

Boston, Nov. 12.—The board of election commissioners finished the recount of votes in the Fourth councilor district last night, and Isaac D. Allen, the colored Republican candidate, was declared elected, over John H. Sullivan, who now represents the district, and who was the Democratic candidate. Allen's majority over Sullivan was, however, materially reduced by the recount, and instead of a margin of 342 votes, as given out on the day after election, his lead, when the last ward was counted, was only 52 votes. It took three days to recount all the votes, and at one time Allen lead his opponent by a very narrow margin. There is no appeal from the decision of the election commissioners, and the governor's council stands, for the first time in its history, solidly Republican, while Mr. Allen holds the highest political office ever given a colored man by the voters of Massachusetts.

The new councilor was born in slavery, and escaped during the war, serving with General B. F. Butler. He was with that noted general, after the war, occupying a position on the famous schooner America, which General Butler owned.

At the time of the Republican convention, at which Allen was nominated, the place on the ticket was offered to a number of prominent Republicans, but all refused it, not desiring to run in a strong Democratic district, and be defeated. Mr. Allen, who had previously figured to some extent at St. Louis, consented to accept the nomination, and his subsequent election was as much a surprise to him as to his Democratic opponent. The defeat of Councilor Sullivan was due to the antagonism of the silver element in his party, and to the fact that thousands failed to vote for either candidate, although, presumably, in favor of Sullivan, as he carried the district last year by over 5000.

RATHER EARLY PROPHECY.

Cousin Osborne Says That McKinley Will Surely Have a Second Term.

New York, Nov. 12.—William McKinley Osborne, cousin of the president-elect, came to New York from Boston Tuesday, and has already started a second term boom for McKinley. "Of course McKinley will have a second term," said he, enthusiastically. His administration will be so wise and so successful that the country will be unanimous for his continuance in office."

WILLIAM M'KINLEY OSBORNE.

Political leaders believe that Osborne thus let the cat out of the bag as to the purpose of Hanna's scheme for a permanent organization. Mark A. Hanna and Cousin Osborne started for Cleveland at 6 o'clock last evening, where they will be joined by McKinley, who is to be Mr. Hanna's guest for a few days.

McKinley Busy.

Canton, O., Nov. 12.—President-elect McKinley yesterday received and entertained the usual number of visitors, and gave such time as was possible to the accumulated, and still accumulating, correspondence. One of the morning callers was Sam Roberts, state chairman of Kentucky. Mr. Roberts thinks there is now little probability of a contest on the electoral vote of that state. "It is now practically conceded, he says, that the Republicans have succeeded by a plurality of at least 494. Ex-Senator Ingalls, in a letter to Major McKinley, says: "I am very much gratified to know that my prediction at Minneapolis has come to pass. My congratulations are late, but they are cordial and sincere. They are tempered by profound regret and disappointment at the result in Kansas, but we did the best we could."

Australian Ballot Not Liked.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 12.—Ellsworth, the last polling place in New Hampshire to be heard from, has made all its election returns. The figures complete the state vote, which gives McKinley 55,671; Bryan, 21,096; plurality for McKinley, 34,575. For governor—Ramsdell (Rep.), 49,092; Kent (Dem.), 28,090; Ramsdell's plurality, 21,002. The dissatisfaction with the workings of the Australian ballot law in this state has crystallized into a memorial to ask the next legislature to materially amend and simplify the law. It is proposed that the New York method of voting the straight party ticket by a single cross be adopted. It is claimed that at least 5000 voters were disfranchised by the new law.

Democrats Hold Everything.

Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—The farmers' national congress adopted resolutions urgently requesting the incoming administration of the national government "to speedily adopt all practicable methods to obtain the concurrence of a sufficient number of nations to secure international bimetallism, with the unlimited coinage of gold and silver as equal money of ultimate redemption, and thereby to restore bimetallic prices for the world's commerce." Mr. Lawrence, chairman of the committee, said that the members of the committee, with one exception, believed that the resolutions expressed the opinion of a vast majority of the people of the United States.

THE SULTAN'S "RECORDS."

Promises Which, If Carried Out, Will Relieve Much Misery.

Constantinople, Nov. 12.—The official summary of the reforms to be put into execution by the Turkish government, in accordance with their promise, has been published, and it is announced that the provincial authorities have received instructions to execute them immediately. The reforms promised by the sultan are:

The liberation from the prisons of the Ottoman empire of all persons against whom no charges have been preferred; the issuance to the police of orders that all peaceable Armenians must not be prosecuted; the immediate convocation of the Armenian national assembly for the purpose of electing a patriarch; the trial, by court-martial, of Mazhar Bey, accused of responsibility for the murder of Father Salvator; the dismissal of the Vali of Diar-Bekir (already compiled with), and the sending of definite instructions to all valis that they must repress all further acts of violence; an estimate of the cost of rebuilding the Catholic convents partially destroyed in Asia Minor; the giving of aid to the residents of those districts which suffered during the recent trouble; the issuance of a decree in enforcing the reforms granted in 1895 to the six vilayets of Armenia; the extension of those reforms to the other provinces of the empire.

Displeased the Vatican.

Rome, Nov. 12.—The statement circulated in the United States that the pope has decided to remove Archbishop Ireland from the diocese of St. Paul, is untrue, but it is stated by those qualified to know, that Archbishop Ireland has lost the greater part of the former consideration in which he was held at the Vatican, and the course he pursued during the late political campaign in the United States has increased this disfavor.

A Pessimistic View.

London, Nov. 12.—The Standard (Con.), in an editorial on the Venezuelan settlement, considers that a 50 years' limit of occupation, to insure title, would displace, virtually, all of the British settlers, except the aboriginees, under British rule. Perhaps, however, adds The Standard, full details will throw a better light on the subject, and in the last case, we can appeal to history to prove Dutch and British occupation before Venezuela existed.

England Wouldn't Take It.

London, Nov. 12.—The Globe confirms, on "undeniable authority," the statement that toward the close of the war between China and Japan the former offered to cede the Island of Formosa to Great Britain, unconditionally, with the view of excluding the Japanese from that territory, but that Lord Rosebery, who was then prime minister, promptly declined the offer.

Russia Has Cereals to Sell.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 12.—Prince Obolenski, writing to The Novo Vremya, recommends the export of Russian cereals to India, and suggests that rye should be sold in Odessa at 40 kopeks a pood. It is understood in this connection that the British ambassador at St. Petersburg, Sir N. R. O'Connor, recently visited Odessa.

Weyler at the Front.

Habana, Nov. 12.—Captain General Weyler, according to a dispatch from the front, has captured an insurgent stronghold in the mountains of El Rubi, in the province of Pinar Del Rio. A brigadier general, seven officers and 47 soldiers were wounded. No further details are obtainable as this message is sent.

To Protect West End.

Boston, Nov. 12.—J. P. Morgan and Robert Bacon of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, had a conference with some of the leading stockholders of the West End street railway yesterday, and issued a circular letter last night. This circular says: "We have, for years, been holders of the securities of the company, and we have felt for a long time that the great danger to the property was that of legislative interference." Continuing, it is set forth that the West End company is unpopular at the state house; that it would be almost hopeless to try to obtain protective legislation; that the large majority of the people of Boston desire more rapid transit, and this can only be obtained by an elevated road, operated in conjunction with surface lines. The circular says that the Boston Elevated Railway company's charter has been bought jointly by the signers to prevent it from falling into other hands, which would have a most disastrous effect on the West End road.

A Munificent Gift.

Everett, Mass., Nov. 12.—Miss G. M. Whidden has offered to the city of Everett, for a hospital, her beautiful estate on the elevated portion of Everett known as Mt. Washington, containing 50,000 feet of land, with the mansion house in excellent repair, and the grounds laid out in a fine manner; the whole estate being valued at $20,000. The mayor and members of the city government met Miss Whidden last night at her home, and she then presented the city with the hospital, to be known as the Whidden Memorial Cottage hospital, in memory of her father and mother. Both branches of the city government will take action on its acceptance later.

Rich Man Kills Himself.

Minneapolis, Nov. 12.—Captain Albert S. Merriam, a wealthy lumber man, walked into the Commercial club yesterday, entered a small card room, and shot himself through the head. Death was instantaneous. Merriam has been a victim of nervous dyspepsia, and recently had suffered much, which probably accounts for his self-destruction.

A Brief Honeymoon.

Austin, Nov. 12.—Frank Hamilton, for 20 years a member of the banking firm of Raymond & Co., committed suicide here yesterday, by taking morphine. Despondency over financial losses is supposed to have led to the act. He was well known in financial circles in New York. He was married last Monday.

Murderer Sentenced.

Boston, Nov. 12.—Thomas Jackson, a negro, was sentenced to state prison for a term not exceeding 12 years, by Chief Justice Mason, in the superior court yesterday, for having killed Frank Bell, another colored man, on Kirkland street, on Sept. 17.

IMPS AND DEVILS

The Title Applied to Fall River Police

BY A WHOLE FAMILY OF CRAZY WOMEN.

The Violent Unfortunates Sent to Insane Asylum.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 12.—Dr. Collel, one of the city physicians, yesterday learned that four members of a French-Canadian family, residing at Maplewood, a suburb of this city, were violently insane. As he feared a tragedy would be enacted, a squad of police officers went to the house.

The house was locked, but the ravings of the inmates could be plainly heard. Admission was refused, and finally one of the policemen unlocked the door with one of his own keys.

A stubborn resistance was met, and the officers were compelled to use force in order to subdue two members of the family, which consisted of a mother and three daughters.

The mother, Mrs. Angela Champoux, and a daughter, Miss Alvina, were taken to the central station for safe keeping. The others were allowed to remain at home. The mother and daughter were later sent to the Taunton asylum.

The woman's husband is away from home, and no one knows his whereabouts. It is said that this has worried the family into insanity.

A few weeks since the daughter, Alvina, became possessed of the idea that she had been married to a man named Cartier, who lives in the next house, and that the ceremony had been performed by the creator. She went to the Cartier home and decided to stay, and this led to trouble, which only increased the intensity of the girl's sad condition.

Recently she has remained in a peculiar physical and mental condition, which the mother declared was a "spell." She did nothing but pray. She was thought to be pestered by devils, who spread themselves to the mother, and, accordingly, a man named Chalbault was sent for. He received $6 for going through various contortions and uttering unintelligible gibberish calculated to drive the imps of satan from the home.

Tuesday there was a family prayer to cast out the devils which possessed the daughter. All prayed and danced and created a terrible racket.

When the officers forced an entrance into the house yesterday, they were treated as devils, and the scrimmage resulted.

PULPIT AND POLITICS

Should go Hand in Hand for the Welfare of the Country.

Boston, Nov. 12.—The Baptist Social union of Boston, the leading organization of Baptist laymen in New England, opened the session of 1896-97 in Tremont Temple last night. Rev. R. S. MacArthur, D. D., of New York; Rev. Russell H. Conwell, D. D., of Philadelphia, and Rev. A. Z. Conrad, D. D., of Worcester, were the principal guests and speakers.

A reception was held from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock, and a banquet was served at 6 o'clock. Edward B. Earle, president of the union, presided, and after the banquet, addresses were made by the three distinguished guests. Dr. MacArthur's subject was "Pulpits, Pens and Politics." Dr. Conwell spoke on "Reaping," while Dr. Conrad's theme was "My Country and I." The temple was filled with members of the union and spectators, all of whom listened to the speakers with marked interest.

Dr. MacArthur began his address by referring to the victory of Nov. 3, when "Morality, patriotism and intelligence overcame the foes of sectionalism, dishonor and anarchy," and expressing the belief that the United States would see, during the next four years, the best government in a generation.

Continuing, the speaker summarized the questions settled by the recent election as follows: "It was determined that this nation shall keep its plighted obligations with the whole world; that sectionalism, as opposed to nationalism, has no place in this land, and that the spirit of anarchism, as opposed to Americanism, has no place under the American flag." In enlarging upon the latter point, Dr. MacArthur elicited much applause by the expression, "Thank God there is no enemy's country under that flag."

The speaker was loudly applauded when he referred to the defeat of Governor Altgeld of Illinois as one of the most satisfactory results of the election, and when he bade "Farewell, a long farewell, to the whole cheap job lot," referring to defeated candidates, he received the most marked applause of the evening.

In referring to the attitude of the pulpit upon political questions, Dr. MacArthur said: "If the pulpit cannot take up the Ten Commandments and the Golden rule, what can it touch. It seems from what we have heard in this campaign, that the vilest repudiation, the basest dishonesty and the blackest anarchy has only to be embodied in a political platform, and the pulpit mustn't touch it." The speaker held that the campaign just closed was an educational campaign, a moral campaign, a religious campaign, for the conscience of the American people had triumphed.

Dr. Conrad, the closing speaker, made a brief patriotic address, which was well received.

In Giddings' Favor.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 12.—The insane asylum investigation defense was continued yesterday. William Redmond, an assistant engineer at the asylum, was called to refute stories of former witnesses concerning the lack of heat in the building. He testified that he always endeavored to keep the temperature at the proper degree, and that the patients did not suffer. Mrs. G. T. Larrabee matron of the female ward, formerly employed at the Brattleboro retreat for the insane, testified that the treatment at Waterbury compared favorably with that at Brattleboro. Mrs. W. R. Nash, an attendant, Grant Russell, the asylum carpenter, and G. T. Larrabee, supervisor of the male ward, testified that no cruelties were practised by Dr. Giddings or attendants, and only necessary force was used.

THE SITUATION IN CUBA.

How Washington Officials View Recent Events on the Disturbed Island

Washington, Nov. 12.—The reports that the United States was about to intervene in the Cuban conflict are not confirmed in official circles, nor is there any evidence to indicate at the present time that the United States has under consideration any change in its policy.

The only available information reaching here is that the Spanish military operations, began early in October, are about to go forward with greater energy than at any previous time. Important results are expected from these forward movements, within the next three weeks. There are now 26,000 more Spanish troops en route for Cuba. They will be distributed in the western provinces. It is expected that with these additional troops in position, the four western provinces will be completely garrisoned and occupied at every point by the government troops.

The lull in operations within the last few days is explained by a circumstance not yet known. The insurgent leader, Maceo, moved to the coast, for the purpose of receiving a pneumatic dynamite gun, which had been landed with great difficulty. The reports reaching here show that the trials of the gun failed to show it to be formidable, the shot carrying only 500 yards, or less than the distance carried by rifles. Under these circumstances, Maceo has retraced his steps, without the dynamite gun.

Meanwhile, the Spanish forces have been divided into two main divisions—one in the south, and the other in the north of the island. The main purpose of the troops has been to occupy the mountain passes, and this has proceeded so rapidly that it is asserted here positively that every approach and egress to the mountain recess is now commanded by a heavy force of Spanish troops. This plan of campaign is relied on to force the insurgents to fight in the open country.

The civil affairs of Cuba also have undergone a change within recent days. By agreement between the leaders of the Liberal, Conservative and Home Rule parties, constituting all the loyal elements, they have been merged into one party, known as the "Party of common defense." The main feature of the agreement is the termination of the rebellion, before any plan of autonomy shall be put into operation.

Wheels to Start.

The new water wheel plant recently erected at the Lawrence section of the Tremont and Suffolk mills, will be put in operation today at 2 p. m., and incidentally, the plant so long idle, will start up preparatory to manufacturing cloth.

Won a Baby Carriage.

Birgo Pattoe the well known clerk at the Lowell Inn was greatly surprised yesterday when an expressman brought him a very fancy baby carriage, the tag on which bore his name. Now Birgo is not married and he at first thought that some one was playing a practical joke on him though the joker must have put up a goodly sum for the carriage. A note which came later explained the appearance of the origin "good thing." It seems that some time ago Birgo attended a church fair in Nashua at which there was present the usual number of pretty girls with books seeking chances. Birgo to be accommodating put out a few dollars on chances never asking what the article might be upon which he was trying his luck. One of them was a baby carriage and Birgo was declared the winner. Up to date he has not yet decided what will be done with it; but under no circumstances will it go to waste.

BOWLING NEWS.

THE BIG 12

Entertained Some of the Visitors at the Mayor's Wedding.

The Big 12, of which Mayor Courtney is a member, held open house last night in honor of his wedding and entertained royally the gentlemen from out-of-town who were present among them being President James Donovan of the democratic city committee, Congressman Fitzgerald, Senator Richard Sullivan, Harvey N. Doffison, Esq., City Messenger E. J. Leary, Supt. of Ferries McClellan, School Committeeman Strange, and Charles H. Slattery all of Boston; Alderman M. Mitchell and Edward Geagan of Charlestown, all members of the famous Redberry club organized at Old Orchard.

Refreshments were served during the evening and an impromptu entertainment program was contributed to by Aldermen Mitchell, Congressman Fitzgerald, Daniel J. Donahue, Charles Burns, Joseph Donohue, Robt. Gallagher and Kendal Weston of the Savoy Theatre. The merry-making broke up at an "early" hour.

The Elks of which Mayor Courtney is also an esteemed member, also kept open house.

MARRIAGE KNOTS

And How They're Tied in Other Lands.

THE SUBJECT OF PANTOMIME LAST EVENING

In Huntington Hall by Universalist Church.

One of the most unique entertainments that has been witnessed in Lowell for a long time is that which opened under the auspices of the First Universalist church in Huntington hall last evening a series of interesting pantomimes entitled "Marriage Dramas."

The principals and projectors of the entertainment spared neither time nor expense in the arrangement of details for it was their ambition to make the entertainment a grand success and such it was.

There are over 200 participants in the tableaux and all the costumes worn and paraphernalia used are historically correct.

As every scene is different and portrays a scene in different parts of the world to provide the necessary wardrobe and appurtenances required an amount of study and research that could not be appreciated by the casual observer. The effect of each scene is also heightened by appropriate music and calcium light effects.

Great credit is due to Mrs. C. H. Allen and her stage manager, Mr. W. W. Shalters, under whose personal supervision the entertainment was rehearsed. The American orchestra furnished music. The performance will be repeated this evening.

The scenes, etc., were as follows: Ancient Roman ceremony, Mrs. Walter F. Leighton, chaperon, 17 participants.

Japanese wedding, Mrs. Guy Morey, 22 participants.

At a Japanese wedding there are two guests dressed as butterflies and they are the masters of ceremony. They see that the fete is in readiness and they act as escorts to all the other guests, even the bride and bridegroom.

On a table stand two immense figures, which represent the first man and woman, also a stork, a dwarf cedar and gifts of cuttle fish and edible sea weed, the latter denoting frugality.

The butterflies themselves are a symbol, as the butterfly is supposed to be a type of wedded bliss.

Indian wedding festivities, Mrs. Geo. E. Bicknell; chaperone, 29 participants; Dutch peasant wedding, Mrs. B. D. Little, chaperone, 20 participants.

Elopements to Gretna Green, Mrs. T. E. Entwistle, 7 participants.

Marriage by capture, Mrs. A. E. Sherman, chaperone, 7 participants; Marriage by purchase, the Babylonian marriage market, Mrs. W. H. Mulno, chaperone, 28 participants; Ancient Jewish ritual, Mrs. L. Frank Howard, chaperone, 31 participants.

THE FINANCIAL STANDING

OF THE CITY DEPARTMENT ACCOUNTS NOV. 2.

Appropriations Down Very Low—How the Accounts Stood Before Placed Out—Big Expenditure by Street Department—Reserved Fund is Down Pretty Low—Water Department Has Biggest Credit and Very Large Expenditure.

The statement of the condition of the several city department accounts on Nov. 2, before the additional transfers and loans were authorized, has just been issued by City Auditor Chase.

Schools had left $1800.74, having spent $210,450.67 during the ten months, commencing last January.

Schoolhouses showed a credit of $670.27 and an expenditure during the year of $38,690.80. Only $4000 of the original credit of $166,027.50 for new schools is left, and the Lincoln school addition which has already cost $12,692.83, has an unexpended balance of $7307.17. The Lexington avenue school is credited with $1352.77 and the Plain street school addition $2311.38. The new Bartlett school has exhausted all but $34.66 of its original appropriation of $50,000; the Carter street school so far has cost $16,470.36, and there remains $7061.62; the addition to the Varnum school has of its appropriation $24,945.70 left; and the Pice street school has a credit of $6521.11. The lands and buildings department will pull through with $3011.64. The street spent $147,663.65, and has $4374.54 to the good. The street watering appropriation is $530.46 ahead and the money voted for the extension of Moody street is all spent but $14.75.

The sewer department's expense account figures up $110,369.87, which leaves a balance of $2869.71. City cemeteries is credited with $106.80; commons, $683.44; pauper department, $2635.30; building at city farm, $3498.73; police, $802.80; fire department, $8453.22; lighting, $687.92; printing and advertising, $1322.90; library $6965.65; health, $5251.33; water works $29,209.07; driven well plant, $4082; reserved fund, $9703.01.

Our Kitchen

No kitchen is kept cleaner than the premises devoted to the manufacture of NONE SUCH Mince Meat. No housewife can be more fastidious in the matter of preparing food than we are in the selection and preparation of the materials of which it is made. The cleaning of the currants (for one thing) is more thoroughly done by means of perfected appliances, than it would be possible to do it by hand.

Its cleanliness, purity, wholesomeness and deliciousness are good reasons for using NONE SUCH Mince Meat. The best reason is its saving—of time, of hard work, of money. A ten cent package affords you two large pies, without trouble to you beyond the making of the crust. Makes just as good fruit cake and fruit pudding as it does mince pie. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address, and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving"—by one of the most famous humorous authors of the day.

A WOMAN BADLY HURT

WHILE PICKING KINDLING IN THE BUILDING

Of the Working Girls' Home on Cross Street—Fell Into the Cellar Breaking Her Limbs.

Mary Sullivan, aged 65 years, who for the past few nights has been gathering chips and sawings from the proposed working girls' home now in process of construction on Cross street, met with a painful accident about 6 o'clock last evening. She fell through a hole in the floor to the cellar breaking both bones in one leg at the ankle joint. Her groans attracted passersby and the ambulance was summoned. She is at St. John's hospital. The poor woman was not stealing the wood as reported.

CUCKOO'S TRAITS

As Exemplified and Applied in Politics.

WHY DEMOCRATS SHOULD REWARD PARTY LOYALTY.

Contest at the Caucuses November 19.

ANY MAN pretending to be a democrat who, in public print or otherwise, opposes the election of a regular democratic nominee, or who repeatedly votes in the city council for republican candidates as against competent and worthy democrats, is a POLITICAL TRAITOR of the kind known in politics as A CUCKOO. No such man has any claim upon the democratic party for a nomination or election to any office.

What inducement is there for a young man entering the democratic party to keep straight, if he sees the biggest traitors receiving the greatest honors at the hands of the party? He soon makes up his mind that he must do one of two things to receive recognition. He must either betray his party and truckle for the favor of opposition, or go into the republican party where they reward only the faithful and punish the cuckoos. Have the local democrats learned this lesson yet? Will they nominate renegades and cuckoos, or will they nominate straight democrats as a reward for faithful service and as an example to those who look for preferment.

The coming caucuses of the democratic party to elect delegates to the municipal convention will be the most interesting and for that part the most important held for years. The voters should turn out in large numbers on that occasion, November 19, because it is at the caucuses that the present contest will be settled. There every voter can take a part in settling the question as to whether a cuckoo or a loyal democrat shall represent the party. The republicans are divided upon several candidates and for that reason the democrats should unite, not on a man whose chief aim has been to attack men in his own party, to pull down and ridicule the members of his own party while beslobbering members of the republican party, not on a man who is a master of the gentle art of making enemies, not on one who like a bull in a china shop is gifted with a faculty of in common parlance "putting his foot in it" for it is very plain that no such candidate can be elected under present conditions.

The drunkard reforms, the thief reforms, but the political cuckoo never reforms. Once a cuckoo, always a cuckoo. Does the democratic party in Lowell propose to trust a cuckoo with a nomination that honest, worthy and reliable democrats are willing to accept? We think not.

The principal claim of the cuckoo who asks for a democratic nomination is, that he can get republican votes. Of course he can, and everybody knows why. But how about the democratic votes? Can he get them? Not this year. If the democrats want to win this year they must put none but democrats on their ticket.

The democrats of Lowell don't deserve to win if they have not the courage to reward the faithful and punish the traitors in their party. When a cuckoo asks for a nomination, no matter who he is, turn him down. He is more dangerous to the party in office or out of office than an open republican enemy.

How can the democratic leaders preach party fealty to the rank and file if they reward party treachery with party honors? How can delegates to a convention vote crooked and then expect the voters at the polls to vote straight? How can party leaders vote for political crooks and then urge the voters to vote for none but democrats? Put none but straight democrats in nomination before you ask the democratic voters to vote straight. Set the straight example in convention and it will be followed at the polls.

One democratic cuckoo is more dangerous to the democratic party than a thousand republicans. This has been proven. Do the democrats of Lowell want any more of it?

A democratic rally will be held in the ward room at the Lyon Street schoolhouse next Monday night at which Fisher H. Pearson and others will speak upon the mayoralty contest.

The Courtney gathering tonight will be at Jackson hall.

COUNTERFEITERS INDICTED.

Advertising Firm Arrested For Putting Imprint of Gold Coin Upon Cards.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 12.—The Federal grand jury has indicted President Hudson, Sec. Kimberley and Treas. McCure of the Hudson-Kimberley Printing Co., for distributing advertising cards with the imprint of $20 gold pieces upon them. The jury claims an offence under the counterfeiting law.

This afternoon's Star Pointer-Patchen race at Philadelphia, is postponed until Saturday on account of heavy track.

A STRANGE DEATH

Young Man Expires in a Cell.

ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS ON MIDDLESEX STREET.

His Mother Denies That He Drank.

Capt. Moffatt and Officer Hickson arrested a young man about 20 years of age at midnight on Middlesex street and at the police station they claim he was too drunk to give his name. From cards in his pocket it was supposed that his name was John O'Connor.

He was locked up in a cell and left asleep, and no more was thought of him, for such cases are frequent in the police station.

But at 2 o'clock when the keeper was passing the cell, he was surprised to find the prisoner lying dead.

The body was removed to O'Donnell's undertaking warerooms where it awaits identification.

The unfortunate man was lame having an iron attachment on one foot. Officer Ryder, who saw the body, believes that the dead man is John O'Connor or Connors who lives at the corner of Lawrence and Richmond street.

The mother of the dead man who is a respectable woman employed at Stearn's laundry identified her son's body this morning at O'Donnell's. He is John O'Connor.

At the police station Mrs. O'Connor said that her dead son was a kind, affectionate and industrious boy and that she never knew him to drink a drop of liquor in his life and if he was drunk last night he must have started drinking yesterday. She is almost destracted by the sad occurance.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

MISKELL—The funeral of Michael Miskell took place this morning from his late home, 164 Cross street. At St. Patrick's church Rev. Fr. Burke celebrated a high mass of requiem for the repose of his soul. The choir directed by E. F. Faulkner rendered the Gregorian chant.

The pall bearers were Michael Rourke, Robert Saunders, Mr. Nugent, Mr. Le Fare, Patrick Meehan and Mr. McLaughlin. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery. Deceased was an old resident of this city, and was the father of Thomas Miskell, the well known wine clerk.

INGALSBY—The funeral of Thomas Ingalsby took place from his parents' home in Chapel street yesterday afternoon and interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

BURKE—Emmett M. Burke child of Martin and Mary Burke, died this morning at their home, 198 Worthen street. The funeral occurred this afternoon and burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

MAHONEY—The funeral of Mary Etta Mahoney took place this morning from her home in Billerica. A requiem mass was celebrated at St. Andrew's church. The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased. The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery in this city.

DEATHS.

DREW—Jesse H. Drew, aged 80 years, 6 months, died yesterday at his home, 31 Arlington street. He was an old resident of Lowell, having lived here 80 years. He was born in Tuftonboro, N. H., in 1816, and also lived in Wolfboro, N. Y. One son, Chas. E. Drew, and two daughters, Mrs. Eliza A. Clough and Miss Belle Drew survive him.

QUENNAN—Agnes E., aged 12 years, daughter of James and Hattie Quennan, died last evening of meningitis, at her home, 120 Suffolk street. The parents have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their loss of a bright and promising little girl. Funeral Saturday afternoon.

The Recount.

Aldermen Pevey, Tucke, Tryder and Wilson, with City Clerk Dadman, continued the recount of the votes in Ward 1, this morning, and expect to finish in time to take up Wards 5 and 9 this afternoon. Only slight changes were discovered from the original returns.

MAYOR COURTNEY WEDDED

Brilliant Ceremony at St. Jean Baptiste Church.

Wedding is Attended by Several Thousand People—An Account of the Ceremony—Vast Array of Presents—The Reception.

How the merry wedding bells pealed last night! And how the eyes of a few thousand inhabitants of our city eagerly followed the charming and fascinating bride, Miss Alice Angelique Brouillette, and the handsome groom, our chief executive, His Honor, Mayor William Francis Courtney.

It is seldom a mayor is married while in office; in fact it is said to be the first marriage of this kind that has occurred in this city. Certain it is that it was an event for which the people of Lowell have been preparing for weeks past. There have been marriages where wealth and fashion have combined; where society queens have displayed their fineries and gallant young men attended amiable young ladies. The aristocracy with great eclat have heard the words pronounced that made two of their number one; but never has there been such a representative gathering—of wealth, aristocracy, society and the plain, honest citizens as assisted at last evening's ceremonial.

A happy bride and a groom they were and filled with joy, who were made one for life.

The preparations for the grand event were in progress for a few months past. Yesterday was not the "day of sunshine" of which the little proverb tells; it was a dark, dismal, cloudy day. And it was a stormy day, too. In the morning there was that unpleasant drizzling rain which gave forebodings of clearing skies before noon, to allow a beautiful sun to shine and then form a glorious setting just as the ceremony was being performed.

After noon all hope was dispelled and towards evening the rain came down in torrents. Then it cleared at six o'clock, just as the bridal party entered the church. Every carriage in Lowell had been engaged for the wedding and many were obliged to make double trips. Private carriages, too, were pressed into service. During the day a large canopy had been erected from the sidewalk to the entrance to St. Jean Baptiste church, to protect the bridal party and the guests from the inclement weather. It was announced that the church doors would be opened at five o'clock though the hour for the ceremony was six o'clock. Long before five o'clock the people commenced to gather at the entrance.

Chief Usher Charles L. Marren and the ushers had assembled at St. Jean Baptiste parochial residence at 4.30 o'clock.

There were twenty ushers in all. They were Charles L. Marren, chief usher; John W. McEvoy, Esq., William A. Hogan, Esq., James J. Kerwin, Esq., J. Joseph Hennessey, Esq., Harvey N. Collison, Esq., of Boston, George Greene, Joseph F. Donohoe, Bernard J. Callahan, Hon. Peter J. Brady, Jeremiah Tompkins, John F. O'Brien, Frederick Flannery, George E. Caisse, Edward S. Houle, Edward Chalifoux, Henri Wilbrenner, Dorris Brouillette, Edward Marden and Hermidos Gervais. The young men were in evening dress and each wore a large white chrysanthemum. Shortly before five o'clock they filed into the vestry, and then into the church. The doors were opened and the first guests to arrive were admitted.

Down in front, seats had been reserved for the families of the contracting parties and the city government.

Four police officers kept an open space in the street in front of the church. They were Officers Hugh Maguire, Daniel W. Cogger, Thomas Coleman and Henry Quinn. Inside, the entrances were guarded by Officers Breault, Provencher, Frank Fox and Peter Corcoran. The detachment was in charge of Lieut. Kew and Sergt. Palmer.

At 5.30 the galleries and a considerable portion of the body of the church were filled. On the outside, the crowd of spectators was quite large.

Merrimack street in that vicinity was crowded with carriages of all descriptions, and every electric car that came along added its quota of guests to the great assemblage.

At 6 o'clock the great edifice was crowded and many ladies were obliged to stand in the alcoves on either side.

The scene was one of great splendor and brilliancy. Such an assemblage, such an occasion Lowell has seldom if ever seen. Two thousand people at least rose to greet the bridal party as it entered.

Men were attired in full evening dress; ladies wore the rich and most dazzling gowns.

In the galleries spectators hung over the balcony half a dozen deep, straining every muscle to catch a glimpse of the fair bride.

Over in the vestry door, in full view of those on that side of the church, stood the groom, Mayor Courtney, and his brother, Henry S. Courtney, Esq.

The mayor's face was wreathed in smiles—he looked the happiest of men. And as he glanced at the assembled guests, he recognized his friends, bowed continually and smiled in return to their pleasant bows.

At 6 o'clock, precisely, there was a flutter in the church—the bridesmaids had arrived. Then eighty little girls, dressed in white, wearing crowns and white veils, marched from the vestry and formed two rows in the centre aisle.

Ten more little ones with white dresses and golden tipped wings were arrayed on the sanctuary steps. They represented little angels, and their names were: Antoinette Vigeant, Annette Vigeant, Antoinette Alexander, Carrinne Alexander, Marie Germain, Dianna Godin, Exilda Belanger, Anna Parent, Bernadette Brouillette, Mary Louise Charon. Each child carried a bouquet.

The church was brilliant with the glow of several hundred incandescent lights and heavy with the perfume of sweet scented flowers. The floral decoratious were very simple and effective. In every window and niche were placed potted plants. Ferns and rare exotics were solidly banked in the cozy alcoves, while the sanctuary was a boudoir of rich foliage, potted plants and cut flowers.

The glow of 200 lighted candles and tapers in colored globes shed a soft radiance over the beautiful altar.

The prie-dieu was decorated in white. Shortly after six o'clock the bride with her father arrived at the church. Mayor Courtney and his brother, Henry S. Courtney, Esq., who was best man, were waiting in the vestry for the arrival of the bride.

When the bride and bridesmaids passed through the main entrance, they were met by the ushers. The organ and orchestra played the soft, low strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, and the party walked down the centre aisle in the following order: ushers, six bridesmaids, the maid of honor, Alice Brouillette Marden of Portsmouth, N. H., who strewed flowers in front of the bride on the way to the altar, and last came the bride leaning on the right arm of her father, Mr. Joseph Brouillette.

At the chancel rail they were met by the groom and his best man, who had advanced from the vestry.

Here there was a slight delay—the bride's right arm had become caught in her veil as she was about to extend her right hand to the man who was soon to be made her helpmate for life. It was only for an instant, but as she stood there the blush came to her cheeks and the guests or those who could see her gazed upon the pretty face then wearing a happy smile. Then unassisted, she freed her arm, the moment of embarrassment had passed and hand in hand the couple passed within the chancel rail and knelt at the prie-dieu. Next to the Mayor knelt his brother, while the maid of honor was kneeling beside the bride.

The bridesmaids were Misses Susie Courtney, Helen Pinault, Romula Bigonesso, Rose Caisse, Elizabeth Garra and Hattie Marion of Holyoke. They ranged themselves three on each side, in front of the sanctuary, and the ushers filed into the chancel, ten on each side. During the ceremony the ushers and bridesmaids remained standing. Rev. Fr. Guillard, O. M. I., provincial of the Oblate Fathers, was the officiating clergyman.

Rev. Fr. Amyot, O.M.I., and Rev. Fr. Joyce, O.M.I., were the assistant priests and Rev. Fr. Forget, master of ceremonies. Rev. Fr. Guillard before performing the ceremony delivered a brief sermon on the text "What God has joined, let no man put asunder." Then followed the marriage ceremony of the Catholic church.

The following clergymen, besides those who officiated, were present at the service: Rev. Frs. Daspatis, Fournier, Marion, Petit, Gagnon and Paquette, all of the Oblate order; together with Rev. Frs. Wm. O'Brien, Gleason and Burke.

The musical portion of the service was excellent. Three choirs combined gave a chorus of about 75 voices. The chorus was made up of the singers in Choeur Rossini, St. Jean Baptiste Church choir, and St. Joseph's church choir. Edmund Pinault wielded the baton and Miss Alma Alexander was the organist. Just before the marriage ceremony commenced, the choir sang the Veni Creator, and when the couple had been pronounced man and wife, the beautiful "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," from Farmer's mass, was sung in joyous chorus. The march from the church was led by the mayor and his young wife, followed by the best man, the bridesmaids and the ushers. They passed between the two lines formed by eighty little girls dressed in white, each holding a large bouquet of chrysanthemums.

As the party left the church, the loud strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were heard pealing forth from the organ and orchestra.

It took some time for the guests to prepare for departure, and it was half an hour after the bridal party left that the last of the guests got started. When Mayor and Mrs. Courtney left the church, there were fully 3,000 people in the street. From Austin street, away up Merrimack street, it was a perfect crush, passageway being left only for the carriages and cars. Not over fifty of that great crowd saw the couple, for their view was destroyed by the great canopy that extended clear to the street.

The Bride's Dress.

The brida's gown was a beautiful creation of white moire antique silk, trimmed with duchess lace. She wore a long bridal veil of Brussell's net, caught with a diamond star and crescent, the gift of the groom. She carried a large bouquet of chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids' dresses displayed a very pretty and effective combination of colors—pink, blue and yellow. Miss Courtney and Miss Pinault wore pink taffeta silk covered with white muslin and trimmed with lace Valenciennes.

Miss Garra and Miss Caisse had on gowns of blue Taffeta silk under white muslin and trimmed with lace Valenciennes; and Miss Bigonesse and Miss Marden were dressed in yellow taffeta silk under white muslin and trimmed with lace Valenciennes.

Little Alice Brouillette Marden, the maid of honor, was gowned in a pretty little dress of white taffeta silk.

Mayor Courtney and his best man were of course attired in evening dress and each wore a large white chrysanthemum.

The Reception.

The reception at the home of the bride's parents started at 7.15 when the couple arrived from the church. Middlesex street was crowded with carriages and at 7.30 every room in the house was filled with people. As the guests arrived they were received by the bride and groom. The presents or at least many of them were exhibited in two rooms down stairs and officer Maher was stationed there. Shortly after 8 o'clock the spacious grounds in front of the house were pretty well filled with people who were obliged to wait till those inside had made their exit before they could enter the house. The rooms were decorated with smilax, laurel, asparagus, and potted plants. The Page company served lunch. At 9 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Courtney left the house for the depot. Arriving at the depot they found six hundred of their friends waiting to bid them adieu. As the train pulled out they cheered and burned red fire and the mayor standing on the platform of the car waved an au revoir.

They will visit New York, Philadelphia and Washington on their wedding trip and on their return will reside at 69 Third street. They will be "at home," Wednesdays in January.

The list of presents will be found on the second page.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

Music Hall.

Nov. 16, 17, 18 Mr. F. Rush's "New White Crook," will be the attraction at Music Hall with its bevy of pretty girls, funny comedians, elegant wardrobes and magnificent effects. The uninterrupted and phenomenal success of the "White Crook" has caused the management this season to enlarge the attraction and to add many expensive novelties to the already famous spectacle. It is conceded that the scenery is the most beautiful ever painted. The company is unusually strong and it introduces the following vaudeville stars each selected for individual accomplishments: Ned Monroe and Fern Melrose, character sketch team in a new idea put together for laughing purposes only; Agnes Behler and Anna Yale, inimitable singing soubrettes in a budget of new songs; Dixon and Lang character comedians and vocalists who stand prominent and alone; Colby and De-Witt, comedy acrobats as the Dago and the Monk; William Edwards on the Mexican ladder, and Patterson and Lester, eccentric comedians. The performance to begin with the political farce, a debate on the present situation, entitled: "Columbia's Reception," introducing the entire company in witty repartee, and to conclude with the roaring burlesque "Near Gay New York," making it in all a new world's sensation.

Savoy Theatre.

Tomorrow evening is souvenir night, and every lady in attendance will receive an autograph photograph of Miss Portia Knight. Souvenirs will be given every Friday evening and patrons will thus receive the photos of every member of the company, and a collection can be made.

DRAW AT BUFFALO.

Joe Flaherty of This City Meets Sam Callahan of Buffalo in a 15 Round Go.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Buffalo, Nov. 11.—The principal event on the Empire Athletic club's card tonight was a 15 round "go" between Joe Flaherty of Lowell and Sam Callahan of Buffalo.

In Flaherty's corner were his brother Martin, Luke Stevens and Luke Burke, all of Lowell, and Jack Hanley and Joe Young were behind Callahan.

The boys fought at catch weights. Flaherty had the advantage in weight and reach. Flaherty opened hostilities with a hard left on the wind and Sam retaliated with a right hand swing on the wind. Honors were easy at the close of the round.

In the second round Joe missed his right swing and went over Callahan's back on the floor. The boys indulged in some "off color" fighting, but no serious damage resulted. Callahan was the aggressor in the third round, landing two blows to every one of Joe's.

In the fourth round Sam staggered Joe with two rights on the ear, but the boys were perfectly fresh as the bell rang.

In the fifth round Sam swung a hard right on the jaw. The boys fought like demons in Callahan's corner, and in a clinch Sam went to the floor. In a wicked mix-up at the end of the round both were very tired.

In the sixth the pace was terrific, and Callahan was pretty weary as he took his seat. In the seventh, Joe was the fresher and forced the fighting. Callahan went down once more, but rose in time to save himself from being counted out. In the eighth, Callahan rushed Joe to the ropes, but failed to land a telling blow. The ninth was tame. The next four rounds were marked by clever sparring. The 14th and 15th rounds were tame and the referee declared the fight a draw.

INCREASED APPROPRIATION

Called For to Provide For Government Schools.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—Estimates for the Indian service for the fiscal year ending June 20, 1898, to be submitted to the opening session of congress call for the appropriation of $7,290,000. This is a hundred thousand more than the appropriation for the current fiscal year. The increase is due to the policy of the government to abolish contract Indian schools and place all absolutely under government control.

POSSIBILITY OF WAR

Between Spain and This Country is Regarded as Remote.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Madrid, Nov. 12.—Regarding despatches from Washington referring to the possibility of trouble between the United States and Spain, it is semi-officially denied that Spain's premier has communicated with the powers in seeking support against the United States. It is now added that the possibility of war between the United States and Spain is regarded as being most remote.

"UP TO DATE."
New Tailoring Firm.

During the past year there has been a number of business changes many old firms retiring and new ones coming in their stead. In the tailoring business an important change has taken place within a week. Charles W. Mayotte is succeeded by the new firm of Dion & Seagel. Messrs. Dion & Seagel have bought out his stock and fixtures which were considered the finest in Lowell and in addition to this they have added a complete line of carefully selected new goods in all the latest patterns which they are ready to make up in stylish garments for both men and women. Mr. Dion is a thoroughly practical cutter having had fourteen years experience in tailoring. He has just completed a course with the Herald of Fashion Co., New York, where he has been studying up latest styles. The new firm is now prepared to execute orders in the very best manner possible at reasonable prices at their "up to date" establishment, room 34, Hildreth building.

Niblock's Aim to Please.

It must be a source of great pleasure to the many patrons of Niblock's millinery and department store to know that there is an establishment in this city where even the most fastidious may be suited in the millinery line and it must also be gratifying to the friends of the firm to know that their artistic establishment has entirely extinguished the long existing but erroneous idea that to procure anything grand in the millinery line we must go to Boston, for there is no store in Boston that can equal it in general excellence, in appointments, stock or in prices. Rich and poor, stylish and plain, all are to be quickly satisfied at Niblocks.

This statement applies also to their other departments. Their laces, ribbons, gloves, hosiery, corsets and all other lines excel, and their prices are always within reach of all.

Satisfaction is guaranteed to every customer, and it will pay you to read their large display advertisement in today's paper if you desire to save money. Visit Niblock's new store at 133-137 Merrimack street.

☞ ANY MAN pretending to be a democrat who, in public print or otherwise, opposes the election of a regular democratic nominee, or who repeatedly votes in the city council for republican candidates as against competent and worthy democrats, is a POLITICAL TRAITOR of the kind known in politics as A CUCKOO. No such man has any claim upon the democratic party for a nomination or election to any office.

Do you notice how many cuckoos rush to the aid of a cuckoo who comes out as "a full fledged candidate for office? Birds of a feather flock together.

Tom Watson is out with his letter of acceptance. We have no doubt that Sewall is now willing to make way for him. The letter is so long that few, except "sons of rest" will have time to read it.

Isaac D. Allen, colored, is beyond question elected a member of the governor's council to succeed Hon. John H. Sullivan, a democrat. Mr. Sullivan's recreancy to party was probably the chief cause of his defeat.

The democrats of Lowell have an important duty to perform on Nov. 19 and that is to elect delegates to a municipal convention. Only a true democrat who stands by his party should be considered as a candidate for the position.

THE M. M. A. PICTURES.

Now that the Middlesex Mechanics society is insolvent, its property will probably be sold under the hammer. Even the most resolute opponent of purchasing the pictures did not wish the society to be wound up in this manner although such a termination was not unexpected.

If the effects of the association be sold at auction there will then be an opportunity to ascertain the market value of the paintings. The city council has decided not to purchase the paintings and it is not likely to change from that decision but it is not probable that these alleged works of art will be snatched away at high prices to adorn the walls of any studio or art museum. The parties that valued them so highly will probably get a bargain in them and should be around when the sale takes place. It is to be hoped for the sake of the society that they will sell for a good price, but there is still a possibility that they will come into possession of the city. It is believed by lawyers that the city will have to get permission from the legislature before it can legally expend the funds of the city for any such purpose.

IN A NOBLE CAUSE.

T. R. Dawley, Jr., the war correspondent who spent five months in Cuba, and personally investigated the many atrocities committed by the Spaniards under Weyler, has organized the Cuban Relief Corps, with headquarters at No. 23 Park Row, New York. Mr. Grover Flint, who was also in the Cuban war, marched with Gomez and came home with the rank of major, acts as treasurer for the association, giving bond to the extent of $25,000 as a guarantee that all funds collected shall be used as represented.

In an appeal to Americans, sent out by the organization there is a strong hint that the relief for Cuba is bullets instead of bandages. A circular with a picture representing the murder of the American, Charles Govin, by Spanish officers, shows what the Spaniards are doing in Cuba. It is only one example of the thousands of murders committed by the Spaniards since the arrival of the Captain-General, which Mr. Dawley stigmatises as "the stupid ex-violator of women—Weyler."

Contributions are solicited for the relief of the Cubans, and to those whose sympathies are suspected of being with Cuba, an envelope is mailed with a slip bearing the cut of a cartridge, such as are used in the Spanish Mauser gun, a machete and a complete Mauser. The card reads:

"Five cents will buy one of these (cartridges) in Cuba. How many do you want? Three dollars will buy one of these American made machetes in Cuba, and $15 will buy a Spanish mauser. These are the implements which the Spanish use to cure the suffering Cubans. Take your choice and send the amount to T. R. Dawley, Jr., manager Cuban Relief Corps, 23 Park Row, New York City, room 53."

A note further explains:

"What is needed in Cuba is money to provide the men with arms and ammunition, but Cleveland has proclaimed the illegality of fitting out expeditions here in aid of the Cuban cause. The Cuban Junta finds itself hampered in sending relief to their struggling brethren. Our countrymen are being shot down, cut to pieces and imprisoned; can't we do something to stop this state of affairs? If it is illegal to ship arms and ammunition to Cuba, it is not illegal for Americans to contribute liberally to the relief of the sick and wounded, homeless and imprisoned Cubans. We solicit your contribution, no matter how small the amount."

It is time the United States government should recognize the Cuban belligerents. Cleveland may leave the glory to his successor, but now that the Venezuelan question is settled and the Gen. Lee can give the facts, there is no excuse for postponing this act of justice.

WOMAN'S SPHERE

Progress Made In All Parts of the World.

EARNEST WORK OF FRANCES E. WILLARD.

Annual Convention of the Woman's Christian Union.

St. Louis, Nov. 12.—Miss Frances E. Willard has arrived here, to preside over the approaching sessions of the second annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance union. Aided by Louise C. Purington, M. D., of Dorchester, Mass., she has prepared a survey of the progress of woman in all parts of the world, chiefly in 1896, but partly during protracted periods, in different religious denominations and in various religious societies. The compilation of facts includes religious and philanthropic; educational, political, medical, legal, literary and artistic circles. It shows that the women in the Methodist Episcopal church have, in the past four years, collected for foreign missions, $1,153,757; for home missions, $786,-265. They have 51 deaconess' homes, 15 of which are in foreign lands. These deaconesses work without salary, and have held 1000 meetings, and have cared for 6000 sick people. Mrs. Maggie N. Van Cott is the most noted evangelist in the Methodist denomination today. For 30 years she has been preaching the gospel, and it is estimated that more than 70,000 people have been converted through her. There are 42 women—31 regularly ordained—Congregational ministers and pastors in the United States. The Methodist church voted at its last general conference to admit women delegates, and the question is virtually settled. There are 300 women preachers among the Society of Friends.

No woman has rendered more distinguished service the past year than Clara Barton, who, at 70 years of age, dared an unfriendly climate, and ventured to an unhospitable capital. Dr. Grace Kimball, Van, Turkey, has done an eminent work in the industrial bureau for the relief of the Armenians. The approximate number helped at the central bureau is 15,230. The heroism of Miss Shattuck, missionary at Oorfa, alone and defenseless, is unsurpassed in missionary annals, 240 people and 17 houses being "covered by the shadow" of that brave woman during the fearful massacre at Ooorfa. Mrs. Anson P. Stokes has done a blessed work for the Italians of New York city.

In India, native women are making donations to the hospitals, libraries and other public enterprises.

A young woman endeavorer in Santiago, Chili, last year raised more than $1000, by her own efforts, for missionary and benevolent purposes. Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey, president of the Maine Woman Suffrage association, has made a gift of $5000 to the Temperance Temple in Chicago.

Mrs. Lillian Hollister of Detroit is the supreme commander of the Ladies of the Maccabes, a woman's organization exclusively, numbering 52,455. It is a fraternal beneficiary society, said to be the first society of women in the world to organize upon the basis of co-operative effort.

During the 20 years that Mrs. C. H. Spurgeon has had charge of the book fund and the pastor's aid fund, she has disbursed nearly £30,000. About 200,000 volumes of books have been given away.

There are now about 600 women students in Michigan university. Rockville (Ills.) college enjoys the distinction of being the first among the western women's colleges to give a Greek play, and the first in the United States, with the exception of Vassar, to give a play in the original tongue. Mrs. Ida J. Hyde of Chicago has taken the degree of Ph. D., magna cum laude, at the University of Heidelberg. Miss Alice Luce, who has recently received the degree of Ph. D., magna cum laude, from the University of Heidelberg, is a Maine girl.

Out of 451 colleges and universities in the United States, only 41 are closed to women. All the others are now co-educational; and, besides, women have 143 schools of the higher education, with 30,-000 students. Of 400,000 teachers in the United States, 43 per cent are women; in England the proportion is even greater. Russian girls are thirsty for knowledge.

Twenty-five states have given the educational ballot to women; one, Kansas, the municipal; and Wyoming, Colorado and Utah have made them full citizens.

Dr. Mary E. Green, with the help of other Michigan women, has secured a law requiring the teaching in all schools of the "modes by which dangerous communicable diseases are spread, and the best methods for the prevention of such diseases."

The unfavorable action last November of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, on a petition from the London School of Medicine for Women, praying for the admission of medical women to its examinations, has been reversed at a meeting of the fellows.

The Queen of Portugal has recently passed the medical students' second year's examination in Lisbon. Miss Aldrich-Blake is the first woman to take the degree of master of surgery of the University of London. The first Indian woman to be graduated as a trained nurse is Miss Nancy Cornelius, of the Oneida tribe of Wisconsin. There are 57,910 women engaged in medical work, nursing, etc., in England.

A law recently enacted in New York provides that 60 hours a week shall be the maximum of work for women and children; that chairs shall be provided for women clerks, and that all places where women and children are employed shall be subject to sanitary inspection.

At the last meeting of the convocation of the Law society of Upper Canada, held in Toronto, the legal committee was directed to frame rules providing for the calling of women to the bar.

Colonel T. W. Higginson has presented the Boston public library with a collection of 1000 volumes relating to the history of women.

Woman are engaging more and more in business. There are insurance agents, jewelers, journalists, newspaper agents, registers of deeds, deputy registers, real estate brokers, musical conductors, keepers of bees, market gardeners, commission agents, bank cashiers, window dressers, paper doll designers, sign painters, shinglemakers (Mrs. Stimson will saw 8,000,000 this year at her mill, Houlton, Me.), steel workers, clock and watch makers, dairy farmers (Mrs. Carrie Nelson of Ryegate owns and runs the best dairy farm in Vermont), ranch owners, etc. There are artists in cookery, millinery, dressmaking, bicycle costuming, photographers, engravers, painters. There are in England about 9000 women in the civil service, 700 journalists, 130 reporters, 347 women blacksmiths, 12,000 bookbinders and printers, 9138 nailworkers; also many thousands in almost every department of work.

Mrs. Willis of Tacoma has gone to establish a bakery within the Arctic circle, at Circle City, on the Yukon river. She is the first white woman to journey through the wildest and most dangerous part of Alaska.

A school for servants is to be started in Orange, N. J., where women will be trained to do housework.

In Decatur, Mich., with a population of 1500, the town officers are women. The leading physician is a woman; also one of the popular pastors; the postmistress; the proprietor of the largest dry goods store, and one of the best shoemakers. There are women painters, harnessmakers, and brokers. There are no saloons.

Mme. Korany, Beirut, Syria, has formed a woman's club, the first ever organized in that part of the world.

There are about 20 women lighthouse-keepers in the United States.

Ex-Bishop Taylor of Africa says that heathen women are quicker to learn trades and industries than men. "They should be given a chance," he says, "to do what they like."

Mrs. Mary E. Cutter of Holliston, Mass., from a successful experience of 11 years in raising fruits and vegetables for market, draws the conclusion that gardening may be made both pleasant and profitable.

In Arapahoe county, Colo., Miss Georgie S. Richards received, as clerk of the district court, $5000 a year. In Denver, Miss Pickerill, the new garbage contractor, is giving a clean sweep, doing the work for $280 a month. It cost $10,000 last year. Mrs. Florence D. Morse is the first woman to receive the appointment of health inspector.

The home secretary of England has appointed Miss Abraham on the special committee to deal with trades that have been scheduled as dangerous, with a view to securing scientific information. Within a year five societies have been organized in Holland for the promotion of woman's interests. In Finland, women are railroad contractors and ticket agents. A woman in New York city is ringing the chimes. The Brooklyn Health Culture club, 150 members, agree that long, heavy, mud and microbe skirts must go. They covenanted to appear in common-sense costume the first rainy day in October. This is true of other clubs.

Since last year's report, 190 patents have been granted to women.

Not Wanted In This Country.

Albany, Nov. 12.—As an outcome of prolonged correspondence with the Italian authorities, the state commission in lunacy has succeeded in deporting three alien lunatics to their home in Italy. These aliens belonged to the very lowest strata of society, and had recently landed in this country. Each had been convicted of crimes of a more or less serious nature, and had been committed to a state prison, or penitentiary, where, their insanity becoming manifest, they were committed to the Matteawan asylum for criminal lunatics.

Murderous Indian at Large.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—Several days ago an Indian named Charcoal, on the Blood reserve, near Fort McLeod, killed another Indian, his squaw and the farm instructor. Charcoal escaped from the reserve, and a detachment of mounted police have been in pursuit of him. They have several times been held at bay by the desperate. Two policemen have been wounded, and yesterday Sergeant Wilde, while attempting his capture, was shot dead. The orders now are to shoot the redskin on sight.

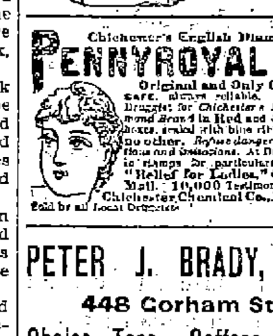

Boom In Iron Trade.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The Industrial World says: Iron has experienced the impulses of a new and more active life. Pig iron has again advanced from 25 to 50 cents per ton, according to delivery. Orders during the past week have been the largest in many months. The plate mills at South Chicago have reopened, and for all kinds of finished mill products there is much better inquiry. But the mills have been famished for orders, and there is no improvement in prices.

Escape Was Easy.

New Haven, Nov. 12.—John Castagnetti, one of the state convicts who, with two others, escaped from the insane asylum at Middletown last week, was captured at the house of a friend in North Haven yesterday. He was brought to this city, and will be removed to the asylum at once. In talking of his escape, Castagnetti says that the asylum door was open, and he simply walked out. The other two are still at large.

In storms, the other end.

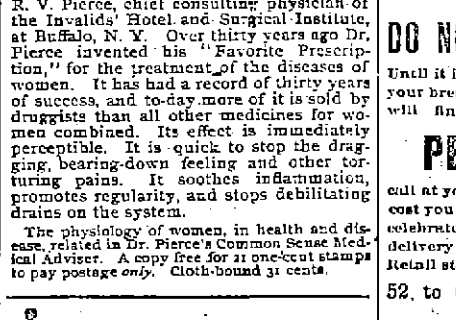

FROM A FRIEND.

Your local doctor may be a good old man, but you shudder when he suggests local treatment for the weakness and diseases peculiar to women. These things are generally unnecessary, but the doctor doesn't know it. He is perfectly honest, but he is behind the times. He does the best he can, no doubt, but his best is not good enough. He is not a specialist. He is a general practitioner, worried and bothered and hurried in giving attention to a thousand and one different ailments. Many busy physicians do not take the time to find out what is really the matter with their patients. Many a woman has been continuously treated for a disease she did not have, because frequently the symptoms of diseases peculiarly feminine appear to be the same as those of other disorders.

Every invalid woman may have the services of a regularly graduated, experienced and skilled specialist in the treatment of diseases of women if she will write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Over thirty years ago Dr. Pierce invented his "Favorite Prescription," for the treatment of the diseases of women. It has had a record of thirty years of success, and to-day more of it is sold by druggists than all other medicines for women combined. Its effect is immediately perceptible. It is quick to stop the dragging, bearing-down feeling and other torturing pains. It soothes inflammation, promotes regularity, and stops debilitating drains on the system.

The physiology of women, in health and disease, related in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A copy free for 21 one-cent stamps to pay postage only. Cloth-bound 31 cents.

POLITICAL ARENA

Will Be Entered By Knights of Labor.

MONEY KINGS AND MINIONS DENOUNCED.

The Producers to Control the Organization.

Rochester, Nov. 12.—At the adjournment of the session of the Knights of Labor yesterday, the following conclusion of the executive board was given out:

In our annual report to the Washington general assembly, we used this language: In spite of the good legislation already secured; in spite of improvements already made in the social and industrial conditions, there yet remains a vast work to be done before the wealth producers will be fully free from the chains of wage slavery and the oppression of monopoly.

The forces of a great army like the Knights of Labor to accomplish the most important results must have its power wisely directed against the weakest point in the enemy's line, and the very stronghold and citadel of monopoly must be captured. No organization in the world has so clear, definite and practical a plan of campaign as our order. The machinery of our government must be wrested from the hands of the agents of the plutocrats and restored to the people. The money of the people, the life-blood of commerce, must be issued by the agents of the people only. The great highways of commerce must be freed from the clutches of railway kings, and the land, the great reservoir from which all wealth is drawn, which is the prime necessity for the maintenance of human existence, must be restored to the whole people. The equal rights of each one of the children of men to a share of the bounties of nature must be recognized and secured. The opportunity to live in peace, and secure the opportunity to labor and enjoy the full fruits of their toil, must be guaranteed beyond a possibility of doubt. These are the great issues, clear and distinct, which the Knights of Labor propose to fight out to a finish, and the wealth producers of the world are welcomed to their ranks.

At last the time has come when the lines of battle are fairly drawn between the laborers of America on the one hand, and their implacable enemies—the money kings and their minions—on the other. Although a complete victory for the people was not won in the recent election, yet immense gains have been made. Six millions of American voters have arrayed themselves permanently under the banner of principles, so long upheld by the Knights of Labor. At least 2,000,000 more would have done likewise, but for the frightened forces of money and coercion, used in this campaign by the party of the plutocracy.

This general assembly should give the most thorough consideration to the question of how best to preserve political advantages already gained for the masses, and how we may perfect the organization for victory in the immediate future. The millions of wealth-producers are now aroused as they never were aroused before in the history of the nation. Let us seek, with all the wisdom we can muster at this general assembly, to decide on such a policy as will show the people how to so use their political power that they will become irresistible in their demand for the reforms which labor requires.

The lack of organization among the toilers is a grave menace to the republic. Not 5 per cent of the working people of the United States are organized. It is imperative that something must be done to organize them more rapidly than they have ever been organized in the past. What shall it be?

We would suggest, first, that we must make it clear to the laboring people that it is to their interest in every sense of the word to become good members of the Knights of Labor.

We must make it clear to the employers that it will not be injurious to their best interests if their employes are permitted and encouraged to join our order. We must make it clear, beyond question, that every man and woman, who is a member of our order, will be safer and better protected in their rights than those who are not members. We must make the employer understand that if he employs Knights of Labor he will not be placed at any disadvantage with his competitor, who employs no Knights of Labor, or is not at open warfare with the order.

Hasty and ill-advised strikes should be avoided as much as possible. Every strike and lockout is incipient civil war. One is an attack of the employer and the employe, and the other is an attack of the employe and the employer. Those attacks and counter attacks often develop into civil war, and as one blow brings on another, we can never foretell what the final outcome of some of these struggles may be. The plutocracy is seeking an excuse to readily increase the standing army. The petty violence connected with strikes and lockouts is their most plausible excuse now. Let us not play into their hands. We should teach the laboring people to cease to be rebellious slaves and to realize their real positions, that of the head masters and rulers of the republic, clothed with ample power to reconstruct all social and industrial conditions on whatever lines they desire; to this end, let the good work of unifying the political power of the masses, now so well begun, be carried on with renewed vigor, and when another four years have passed, every branch of the government of the United States, local, municipal, state and national, will be in the hands of the wealth producers, to use as they see fit. We shall then no longer be as we now are, largely at the mercy of the money kings in the great corporations.

Watson's Little "If."

Atlanta, Nov. 12.—The letter of acceptance, written by Tom Watson, accepting the Populist nomination for vice president, was yesterday made public. Seven columns of Watson's People's party paper are devoted to it. The letter is supplemented by four columns of advice to Populists, to "Sit steady in the boat and hold their party together." The editorial tone of the paper is one of fulfilled prophecy. Watson declares that the failure of the Populists to support Bryan in the close states brought about McKinley's election. He goes into a long review of circumstances leading to his nomination at St. Louis, and accepts the vice presidential nomination "because I said I would." He declares that if the St. Louis Populist convention had nominated a straight Populist ticket, it would have been elected. It would, he said, have driven the Hills and Gormans where they belonged, in the Republican ranks—and the Bryans and Blands would have joined with the Populists. He complains bitterly of the treatment he has received at the hands of the Populist leaders, and addresses himself, particularly to Senator Butler, in a vigorous manner.

Who Wants to Subscribe?

Louisville, Nov. 12.—Secretary Richardson of the Democratic state campaign committee, yesterday gave out the following statement: "The Republicans of Kentucky claim the state for the Republican electors by about 500 votes, on the face of the returns. This result has been accomplished by the perpetration of one of the most gigantic frauds in the history of politics. If a proper contest could be made by the committee, the state could be secured to Bryan and Democracy. To make this contest it is necessary that this committee raise a fund to be expended in the employment of counsel, the taking of proof and the general expenses of the contest. This committee is now without funds, in fact the campaign in this state was made practically without money, and the only means at its command for raising said funds is by popular subscription. In view of these facts, this committee now appeals to all Democrats interested in saving the state to Bryan and Democracy, to send at once such amounts as they feel able to subscribe."

How Sherman Would Have It.

New York, Nov. 12.—The Republicans of Brooklyn had a meeting at the Union League club last night to ratify the election of McKinley and Hobart. The principal speaker of the evening was Senator John Sherman of Ohio. He advocated conservatism on the part of the administration that is to be. The advice in his speech may be epitomized thus: Pass the Dingley bill, improved, if possible, so that the McKinley administration may come into power with sufficient money to meet expenses. No extra session of congress. Appointment of a tariff commission; calmness and deliberate consideration of the whole question. Take care of the farmer from the point of view of protection. No coinage of silver dollars until we can put into the silver dollar enough silver to make it equal in value to the gold dollar. Welcome all conservative men to the Republican party. Senator Sherman referred also to the work of the past administration in extremely unfavorable terms.

Democrats Hold Everything.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 12.—The Alabama legislature organized yesterday, with D. Sayre as president of the senate, and N. N. Clements speaker of the house. The Democrats in the house numbered 76 and the Populists 24. In the senate there are 24 Democrats and nine Populists. Balloting for United States senator will begin in open session on Nov. 24. The Populists have not yet decided whether they will nominate a candidate.

Wants Pugh's Place.

Vanceburg, Ky., Nov. 12.—Colonel W. L. Thomas, Silver Democratic candidate for congress, in the Ninth district, at the late election, has informed the silver chairman here that he will contest the seat of Samuel J. Pugh, on the grounds of irregularities in the voting, which, he says, existed in every county in the district.

In Blackburn's Behalf.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 12.—Notices of contest have been filed in the case of all the Republicans elected to fill vacancies in the legislature. This is understood to have been done in the interest of Senator Blackburn.

Still at Odds With Italy.

Rome, Nov. 12.—A letter was recently received by the pope from King Menelik of Abyssinia. It was brought by Mgr. Macaire. King Menelik protests his devotion to the pope, and maintains that, since the Italian government continues in its attitude of hostility toward Abyssinia, he is unable to sacrifice the sole guarantee of peace that he holds by restoring to liberty the Italian prisoners he has taken and now holds. Menelik also expresses hope that the pope will intervene in the interests of peace, and thus accelerate the liberation of the prisoners.

A Gruesome Find.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 12.—The dismembered body of an unknown young woman was found in a shallow grave yesterday, between the city and the asylum for the insane. Two employes at the asylum claim to have seen two men going into the field Tuesday night, dismount, and after opening the grave, ride away, leaving it uncovered. The body has the appearance of having been buried several weeks. The police are mystified by the find, and have no clew on which to work.

On Trial For Manslaughter.

Taunton, Mass., Nov. 12.—William Butler of New Bedford was brought before the superior criminal court yesterday on a charge of manslaughter, in shooting an Italian, who was robbing his fruit orchard, July 24. Medical Examiner Hough testified that death was caused by gunshots in the lungs, liver, intestines and kidneys, 51 shots being found in the body. Butler claims that he did the shooting in self-defense.

John Inman's Will.

New York, Nov. 12.—John H. Inman, who died recently, in his will, filed yesterday, bequeaths to his wife his house at 874 Fifth avenue, an annuity of $25,000, all his furniture, plate and pictures, and his pew in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church. The total value of the bequest is $450,000. The rest of the estate is to be divided in equal shares among his children.

Judge Was Lenient.

Providence, Nov. 12.—Edward Rushford, the embezzler, who was arrested in Omaha last winter by Detective Parker, pleaded nolo contendre yesterday, and Judge Wilbur, after listening to a plea for mercy, on account of the embezzlement being his first offense, ordered Rushford to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR PRESERVES THE Natural Color of the Hair

ALLEN ELECTED

The Recount Confirms His Claims as Councillor.

McKINLEY IS PROMISED A SECOND TERM.

Resolutions for International Bimetallism Passed.

Boston, Nov. 12.—The board of election commissioners finished the recount of votes in the Fourth councillor district last night, and Isaac D. Allen, the colored Republican candidate, was declared elected, over John H. Sullivan, who now represents the district, and who was the Democratic candidate. Allen's majority over Sullivan was, however, materially reduced by the recount, and instead of a margin of 242 votes, as given out on the day after election, his land, when the last ward was counted, was only 62 votes. It took three days to recount all the votes, and at one time Allen lead his opponent by a very narrow margin. There is no appeal from the decision of the election commissioners, and the governor's council stands, for the first time in its history, solidly Republican, while Mr. Allen holds the highest political office ever given a colored man by the voters of Massachusetts.

The new councilor was born in slavery, and escaped during the war, serving with General B. F. Butler. He was with that noted general, after the war, occupying a position on the famous schooner America, which General Butler owned.

At the time of the Republican convention, at which Allen was nominated, the place on the ticket was offered to a number of prominent Republicans, but all refused it, not desiring to run in a strong Democratic district, and be defeated. Mr. Allen, who had previously figured to some extent at St. Louis, consented to accept the nomination, and his subsequent election was as much a surprise to him as to his Democratic opponent. The defeat of Councilor Sullivan was due to the antagonism of the silver element in his party, and to the fact that thousands failed to vote for either candidate, although, presumably, in favor of Sullivan, as he carried the district last year by over 5000.

RATHER EARLY PROPHECY.

Cousin Osborne Says That McKinley Will Surely Have a Second Term.

New York, Nov. 12.—William McKinley Osborne, cousin of the president-elect, came to New York from Boston Tuesday, and has already started a second term boom for McKinley. "Of course McKinley will have a second term," said he, enthusiastically. His administration will be so wise and so successful that the country will be unanimous for his continuance in office."

WILLIAM M'KINLEY OSBORNE.

Political leaders believe that Osborne thus let the cat out of the bag as to the purpose of Hanna's scheme for a permanent organization. Mark A. Hanna and Cousin Osborne started for Cleveland at 6 o'clock last evening, where they will be joined by McKinley, who is to be Mr. Hanna's guest for a few days.

THE SULTAN'S "RECORDS."

Promises Which, If Carried Out, Will Relieve Much Misery.

Constantinople, Nov. 12.—The official summary of the reforms to be put into execution by the Turkish government, in accordance with their promise, has been published, and it is announced that the provincial authorities have received instructions to execute them immediately. The reforms promised by the sultan are:

The liberation from the prisons of the Ottoman empire of all persons against whom no charges have been preferred; the issuance to the police of orders that all peaceable Armenians must not be prosecuted; the immediate convocation of the Armenian national assembly for the purpose of electing a patriarch; the trial, by court-martial, of Mazhar Bey, accused of responsibility for the murder of Father Salvator; the dismissal of the Vali of Diar-Bekir (already complied with), and the sending of definite instructions to all valis that they must repress all further acts of violence; an estimate of the cost of rebuilding the Catholic convents partially destroyed in Asia Minor; the giving of aid to the residents of those districts which suffered during the recent trouble; the issuance of a decree in enforcing the reforms granted in 1895 to the six vilayets of Armenia; the extension of these reforms to the other provinces of the empire.

Displeased the Vatican.

Rome, Nov. 12.—The statement circulated in the United States that the pope has decided to remove Archbishop Ireland from the diocese of St. Paul, is untrue, but it is stated by those qualified to know, that Archbishop Ireland has lost the greater part of the former consideration in which he was held at the Vatican, and the course he pursued during the late political campaign in the United States has increased this disfavor.

IMPS AND DEVILS

The Title Applied to Fall River Police

BY A WHOLE FAMILY OF CRAZY WOMEN.

The Violent Unfortunates Sent to Insane Asylum.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 12.—Dr. Collel, one of the city physicians, yesterday learned that four members of a French-Canadian family, residing at Maplewood, a suburb of this city, were violently insane. As he feared a tragedy would be enacted, a squad of police officers went to the house.

The house was locked, but the ravings of the inmates could be plainly heard. Admission was refused, and finally one of the policemen unlocked the door with one of his own keys.

A stubborn resistance was met, and the officers were compelled to use force in order to subdue two members of the family, which consisted of a mother and three daughters.

The mother, Mrs. Angela Champoux, and a daughter, Miss Alvina, were taken to the central station for safe keeping. The others were allowed to remain at home. The mother and daughter were later sent to the Taunton asylum.

The woman's husband is away from home, and no one knows his whereabouts. It is said that this has worried the family into insanity.

A few weeks since the daughter, Alvina, became possessed of the idea that she had been married to a man named Cartier, who lives in the next house, and that the ceremony had been performed by the creator. She went to the Cartier home and decided to stay, and this led to trouble, which only increased the intensity of the girl's sad condition.

Recently she has remained in a peculiar physical and mental condition, which the mother declared was a "spell." She did nothing but pray. She was thought to be pestered by devils, who spread themselves to the mother, and, accordingly, a man named Chalbault was sent for. He received $6 for going through various contortions and uttering unintelligible gibberish calculated to drive the imps of satan from the home.

Tuesday there was a family prayer to cast out the devils which possessed the daughter. All prayed and danced and created a terrible racket.

When the officers forced an entrance into the house yesterday, they were treated as devils, and the scrimmage resulted.

Australian Ballot Not Liked.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 12.—Ellsworth, the last polling place in New Hampshire to be heard from, has made all its election returns. The figures complete the state vote, which gives McKinley 55,671; Bryan, 21,096; plurality for McKinley, 34,575. For governor—Ramsdell (Rep.), 49,092; Kent (Dem.), 28,090; Ramsdell's plurality, 21,002. The dissatisfaction with the workings of the Australian ballot law in this state has crystallized into a memorial to ask the next legislature to materially amend and simplify the law. It is proposed that the New York method of voting the straight party ticket by a single cross be adopted. It is claimed that at least 5000 voters were disfranchised by the new law.

To Protect West End.

Boston, Nov. 12.—J. P. Morgan and Robert Bacon of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, had a conference with some of the leading stockholders of the West End street railway yesterday, and issued a circular letter last night. This circular says: "We have, for years, been holders of the securities of the company, and we have felt for a long time that the great danger to the property was that of legislative interference." Continuing, it is set forth that the West End company is unpopular at the state house; that it would be almost hopeless to try to obtain protective legislation; that the large majority of the people of Boston desire more rapid transit, and this can only be obtained by an elevated road, operated in conjunction with surface lines. The circular says that the Boston Elevated Railway company's charter has been bought jointly by the signers to prevent it from falling into other hands, which would have a most disastrous effect on the West End road.

A Munificent Gift.

Everett, Mass., Nov. 12.—Miss G. M. Whidden has offered to the city of Everett, for a hospital, her beautiful estate on the elevated portion of Everett known as Mt. Washington, containing 50,000 feet of land, with the mansion house in excellent repair, and the grounds laid out in a fine manner; the whole estate being valued at $20,000. The mayor and members of the city government met Miss Whidden last night at her home, and she then presented the city with the hospital, to be known as the Whidden Memorial Cottage hospital, in memory of her father and mother. Both branches of the city government will take action on its acceptance later.

McKinley Busy.

Canton, O., Nov. 12.—President-elect McKinley yesterday received and entertained the usual number of visitors, and gave such time as was possible to the accumulated, and still accumulating, correspondence. One of the morning callers was Sam Roberts, state chairman of Kentucky. Mr. Roberts thinks there is now little probability of a contest on the electoral vote of that state. It is now practically conceded, he says, that the Republicans have succeeded by a plurality of at least 604. Ex-Senator Ingalls, in a letter to Major McKinley, says: "I am very much gratified to know that my prediction at Minneapolis has come to pass. My congratulations are late, but they are cordial and sincere. They are tempered by profound regret and disappointment at the result in Kansas, but we did the best we could."

In the supreme court at Keene, N. H., Miss Cutler of Cambridge, Mass., was awarded $1116.67 for injuries sustained in falling through a trap door at the boarding house of Mrs. Pierce at East Jeffrey, N. H.

Wheels to Start.

The new water wheel plant recently erected at the Lawrence section of the Tremont and Suffolk mills, will be put in operation today at 2 p. m., and incidentally, the plant so long idle, will start up preparatory to manufacturing cloth.

Won a Baby Carriage.

Birge Patten the well known clerk at the Lowell Inn was greately surprised yesterday when an expressman brought him a very fancy baby carriage, the tag on which bore his name. Now Birge is not married and he at first thought that some one was playing a practical joke on him though the joker must have put up a goodly sum for the carriage. A note which came later explained the appearance of the origin "good thing." It seems that some time ago Birge attended a church fair in Nashua at which there was present the usual number of pretty girls with books seeking chances. Birge to be accommodating put out a few dollars on chances never asking what the article might be upon which he was trying his luck. One of them was a baby carriage and Birge was declared the winner. Up to date he has not yet decided what will be done with it; but under no circumstances will it go to waste.

THE BIG 12

Entertained Some of the Visitors at the Mayor's Wedding.

The Big 12, of which Mayor Courtney is a member, held open house last night in honor of his wedding and entertained royally the gentlemen from out-of-town who were present among them being President James Donovan of the democratic city committee, Congressman Fitzgerald, Senator Richard Sullivan, Harvey N. Dodison, Esq., City Messenger E. J. Leary, Supt. of Ferries McClellan, School Committeeman Strange, and Charles H. Slattery all of Boston; Alderman M. Mitchell and Edward Geagan of Charlestown, all members of the famous Redberry club organized at Old Orchard.

Refreshments were served during the evening and an impromptu entertainment program was contributed to by Alderman Mitchell, Congressman Fitzgerald, Daniel J. Donahue, Charles Burns, Joseph Donohue, Robt. Gallagher and Kendal Weston of the Savoy Theatre. The merry-making broke up at an "early" hour.

The Elks of which Mayor Courtney is also an esteemed member, also kept open house.

MARRIAGE KNOTS

And How They're Tied in Other Lands.

THE SUBJECT OF PANTOMIME LAST EVENING

In Huntington Hall by Universalist Church.

One of the most unique entertainments that has been witnessed in Lowell for a long time is that which opened under the auspices of the First Universalist church in Huntington hall last evening a series of interesting pantomimes entitled "Marriage Dramas."

The principals and projectors of the entertainment spared neither time nor expense in the arrangement of details for it was their ambition to make the entertainment a grand success and such it was.

There are over 200 participants in the tableaux and all the costumes worn and paraphernalia used are historically correct.

As every scene is different and portrays a scene in different parts of the world to provide the necessary wardrobe and appurtenances required an amount of study and research that could not be appreciated by the casual observer. The effect of each scene is also heightened by appropriate music and calcium light effects.

Great credit is due to Mrs. C. H. Allen and her stage manager, Mr. W. W. Shilters, under whose personal supervision the entertainment was rehearsed. The American orchestra furnished music. The performance will be repeated this evening.

The scenes, etc., were as follows: Ancient Roman ceremony, Mrs. Walter F. Leighton, chaperon, 17 participants.

Japanese wedding, Mrs. Guy Morey, 22 participants.

At a Japanese wedding there are two guests dressed as butterflies and they are the masters of ceremony. They see that the fete is in readiness and they act as escorts to all the other guests, even the bride and bridegroom.

On a table stand two immense figures, which represent the first man and woman, also a stork, a dwarf cedar and gifts of cuttle fish and edible sea weed, the latter denoting frugality.

The butterflies themselves are a symbol, as the butterfly is supposed to be a type of wedded bliss.

Indian wedding festivities, Mrs. Geo. E. Bicknell; chaperone, 29 participants; Dutch peasant wedding, Mrs. B. D. Little, chaperone, 20 participants.

Elopement to Gretna Green, Mrs. T. E. Entwistle, 7 participants.

Marriage by capture, Mrs. A. E. Sherman, chaperone, 7 participants; Marriage by purchase, the Babylonian marriage market, Mrs. W. H. Muino, chaperone, 28 participants; Ancient Jewish ritual, Mrs. L. Frank Howard, chaperone, 31 participants.

OF THE CITY DEPARTMENT ACCOUNTS NOV. 2.

Appropriations Down Very Low—How the Accounts Stood Before Pieced Out—Big Expenditure by Street Department—Reserved Fund is Down Pretty Low—Water Department Has Biggest Credit and Very Large Expenditure.

The statement of the condition of the several city department accounts on Nov. 2, before the additional transfers and loans were authorized, has just been issued by City Auditor Chase.

Schools had left $1800.74, having spent $210,150.67 during the ten months, commencing last January.

Schoolhouses showed a credit of $670.27 and an expenditure during the year of $38,590.80. Only $4000 of the original credit of $166,027.50 for new schools is left, and the Lincoln school addition which has already cost $12,602.83, has an unexpended balance of $7307.17. The Lexington avenue school is credited with $1352.77 and the Plain street school addition $3811.38. The new Bartlett school has exhausted all but $34.66 of its original appropriation of $59,000; the Carter street school so far has cost $16,470.36, and there remains $7061.62; the addition to the Varnum school has of its appropriation $24,945.70 left; and the Pice street school has a credit of $6521.11. The lands and buildings department will pull through with $3011.64. The street spent $147,-653.55, and has $4374.54 to the good. The street watering appropriation is $530.46 ahead and the money voted for the extension of Moody street is all spent but $14.75.

The sewer department's expense account figures up $110,960.37, which leaves a balance of $2569.71. City cemeteries is credited with $166.80; commons, $683.44; pauper department, $2635.30; building at city farm, $3498.73; police, $802.80; fire department, $8963.22; lighting, $687.92; printing and advertising, $1322.90; library $6965.65; health, $5251.33; water works $29,209.07; driven well plant, $4082; reserved fund, $9763.01.

Our Kitchen

No kitchen is kept cleaner than the premises devoted to the manufacture of NONE SUCH Mince Meat. No housewife can be more fastidious in the matter of preparing food than we are in the selection and preparation of the materials of which it is made. The cleaning of the currants (for one thing) is more thoroughly done by means of perfected appliances, than it would be possible to do it by hand.

Its cleanliness, purity, wholesomeness and deliciousness are good reasons for using NONE SUCH Mince Meat. The best reason is its saving—of time, of hard work, of money. A ten cent package affords you two large pies, without trouble to you beyond the making of the crust. Makes just as good fruit cake and fruit pudding as it does mince pie. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address, and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving"—by one of the most famous humorous authors of the day.
